Busy Week For Pennsylvania Agriculture Department

VERNON ACHENBACH, JR.
Lancaster Farming Staff
HARRISBURG (Dauphin Co.) — It was a busy week for agriculture in Pennsylvania.

On Tuesday, the state broke ground for the long-awaited new state laboratory which is to be the one of the biggest parts in creating a fully accredited tripartite animal disease diagnostic and health system. It is to put the state into the national lead for such needed services.

Later in the day, state Secretary of Agriculture Charles Brosius was officially sworn into office, with one of the largest turnouts ever to such an agricultural function.

Also this week, Gov. Tom

July 4

To celebrate the nation's birthday, Lancaster Farming's offices will be closed on Tuesday, July 4. Our offices will reopen on Wednesday, July 5. Have a great day!

Ridge, who attended the swearing-in ceremony making it his second visit to the agriculture building this year, signed into law HB 1400 which creates the state Department of Conservation and Natural Resources (DCNR).

During a Wednesday ceremony, Gov. Ridge signed the law with Secretary Brosius and DER Secretary James Seif present.

Under the new law, DER's name is changed to the Department of Environmental Protection, while the state parks, forests and other natural resources are to fall under the purview of the newly created, cabinet level DCNR.

(According to the Governor's Press Office, an nominee to head the DCNR is expected to be named within the next several weeks.)

The law also gives additional roles to the PDA, which now is to implement the Seasonal Farm Labor Act.

Further, the law altered slightly the State Conservation Commission. Not only is it to have an independent executive secretary selected by the commission, but the PDA is to target staff to support the commission when it enforces the Nutrient Management Act with regards to production agriculture, and the DEP is to have staff to support the SCC when it enforces violations of the Clean Streams Act.

Youth Learn By Leading At Cooperatives Institute

ANDY ANDREWS
Lancaster Farming Staff
SHIPPENSBURG (Cumberland Co.) — For participants early this week at the annual state cooperatives Summer Youth Institute, involvement meant everything.

It meant a chance to attend the National Institute of Cooperative Education (NICE) Conference in Minneapolis, Minn. at the end of this month. It meant a chance to serve as a scholar at upcoming state conferences. It could provide the cornerstone for a management career.

Youth from around the state were honored for their leadership and understanding of how cooperatives work at the annual Pennsylvania Council of Coopera-tives (PCC)- and Penn State-sponsored Summer Institute at Shippensburg University.

Robin Davies, daughter of Phil and Paulette Davies, Tunkhannock, and Michael Clark, son of Gary and Delores Clark, Loysville, were presented with the Jay Irwin Leadership Award at the awards ceremony on Wednesday afternoon.

Robin, 17, a senior at Tunkhannock Area High School, has served on the scholar committee at the institute for two years.

Robin said she learned how to meet and interact with fellow participants at the institute. Her leadership responsibilities included reporting to the federal board each night and speaking in the general

National Holstein Convention: $72,000 Sale Top, Cope Is President

EVERETT NEWSWANGER
Managing Editor

PITTSBURGH — For the sixth time in the 110-year history of the National Holstein Association, the annual convention was held in Pennsylvania. All previous conventions (1919, 1926, 1929, 1955, and 1976) were held in Philadelphia. But this week the rejuvenated western Pennsylvania steel city put out the red carpet for the 1,500

Holstein breeders who came to be part of the festivities and association business.

During the election of officers Wednesday, Pennsylvania's John Cope, Grantham, was elected president of the 45,407-member (including junior members) Holstein Association USA. Cope succeeded John Selz, Humbird, Wisconsin, who was not eligible for reelection. Richard Keene from

New York was elected vice president.

The new directors that were elected are Henry Beneke, New York; Ray Bennett, Georgia, and Jim Spreng, Ohio. Keith Stump, Wisconsin, was reelected.

The 1995 Distinguished Young Breeders award was given to Steve and Chrissy Woods, Littlestown. This couple became owner-operators of Penn Gate Farm in 1986. Since that time they have received 48 All-Pennsylvania awards and an All-American nomination. They were premier breeder at the Eastern National twice and premier exhibitor once. Their 73-cow herd includes 20 EX and 32 VG cows and the herd average is 22,000 pounds of milk.

The award is given to young dairy farmers between the ages of 21 and 40 who show "success with registered Holsteins" and have a plan with well-thought-out goals.

The Robert Rumler Scholarship was given to Alfred Person, Burlington, Vermont. Person is a 1972 graduate of Ohio State and operated a New York dairy farm in Clymer, New York, before pursuing a Master's Degree in Extension Education at the University of Vermont.

In the dairy bowl contest, both Pennsylvania teams came into the finals Wednesday morning undefeated. And the junior team from Pennsylvania remained undefeated, outscoring Wisconsin's junior team to become the national

Friends of Singbrook Aero M Molly-ET gather in the National Holstein Convention sale ring right after the beautiful two year-old sold to Larry Mohnfield, Pleasant Plain,

Ohio, for $72,000. Consigned by Singing Brook Farm, Imbler, this first cow in the ring to open the sale was one of 15 head that sold for $20,000 or more.

Delmarva
Broiler

JUNE 26, 1995

Movement of ready-to-cook whole birds varied, but was generally no better than moderate. Offerings were adequate and in fairly good balance on 3 pound and smaller sizes, fully adequate to instances ample on the larger sizes. Live supplies were moderate; weights were mostly desirable to heavy. Processing schedules were very heavy. Less than trucklot asking prices were unchanged at 54 to 65 cents. Trade sentiment was no better than steady. Bone-in breasts were adequate to tight. Boneless skinless breasts were adequate and in fairly good balance. Legs and leg quarters were irregularly available. Wings ranged adequate to ample.

EGGSHELL
QUALITY...Dr. Milton Scott Nutritional Consultant"Check calcium separation"

Samples taken at different locations in the same feed line at the hopper outlet, the far end of the house and at the return, often show a wide variation in calcium levels. Both excessive levels (which cause hens to back off feed) and low levels---prevent adequate calcium intake and cause poor shell quality. Oyster shell's specific gravity (0.86) is close to that of a typical layer ration. This helps prevent Ca separation and build up.

For details on sampling for Ca separation, and the use of oyster shells, contact The Fox Co., PO Box 708, Newfield, NJ 08344.

National Egg Market

ATLANTA, GA
JUNE 28, 1995

Prices were higher for large in Virginia, and unchanged elsewhere. The market tone was mostly steady. Demand continued to cover the full range and was mostly moderate. Resort areas expected good movement for the Fourth of July holiday. Supplies of jumbo and extra-large were short to adequate, large were generally adequate, and the light sizes were adequate to instances ample. Breaking stock supplies were generally adequate for the moderate demand, and prices were unchanged. Light type hen offerings diminished, but were adequate for the light to moderate demand.

National Grain Market

ST. JOSEPH, MO
JUNE 28, 1995

Rain delayed winter wheat harvest, wheat production concerns and very good export demand pushed wheat bids sharp. Higher. Corn and soybean bids were also sharply higher in reaction to excellent export interest, especially for corn and active fund buying on the board. Wheat 5 to 20 cents higher. Corn 6 to 7 cents higher. Sorghum 12 to 14 cents higher. Soybeans 3 to 5 cents higher. Rain in parts of Kansas kept farmers out of winter wheat fields last night and today. Concerns over wheat crop conditions continue to be supportive to wheat bids. Very good export wheat demand today and in fact this week, underpinned prices. Indications that the world wheat production estimate will be reduced set a stronger tone for today's trading. Excellent export demand for corn drove bids sharply higher and ideas additional orders are in the works offered an added boost. Active fund buying in corn pits was another plus factor. Soybeans enjoyed fair export business and bean bids climbed with the support of stronger corn.

OK City Feeder Cattle

OKLAHOMA CITY, OK
JUNE 28, 1995

Compared to last Monday: Feeder steers steady to 3.00 higher with greatest advance over 800 lbs. Few feeder heifers firm. Steer and heifer calves steady to 2.00 lower. Trade extremely active for feeder steers; good for light supply of heifers; fair to moderate for calves. Quality plain to average, modest end-attractive. Weigh-ups of both calves and yearlings average to full. Yearling flesh slightly thin to medium; calves generally soft and medium fleshed to moderately fleshy. Rains in the combelt this past week had feeder cattle buyers in better mood as corn crop expectations have improved. Slaughter cows and bulls fully 1.00 higher in moderately active trading. 490 cows and bulls sold. Receipts this week 12,450; last week 12,393; last year 13,957. Supply consisted of 67 percent yearlings and few calves over 600 lbs; 29 percent calves under 600 lbs; 4 percent cows and bulls. Prices follow with weighted average price and weight in parenthesis.

JULY 3-9, 1995

RAISE A TOAST

On July 4, whether with a glass of spring water or something stronger, we raise our glasses and drink to the health of our nation. Oddly, the custom of drinking one's health may have come from the frequent violence associated with drinking. (The ancient Greeks used poisoned wine for political gain, but a host who wanted to reassure his guests would pour from a common decanter and take the first sip, literally, to his guests continued health.) In modern times, Americans have made grand speeches in honor of Uncle Sam, Old Glory, or the Star-Spangled Banner. One common toast was, "To the Stars and Stripes, each of them representing a state, each a diamond in a necklace of gems." The term "toasting" took its name from the ancient Roman custom of dropping a burned piece of toast into a cup of wine. The charred bread reduced the acidity, rendering an inferior, vinegary wine into a more palatable drink.

When the wine is in, the wit is out.

TIP OF THE WEEK

To help your body beat the heat, drink plenty of fluids and minimize your intake of protein-rich foods.

ORANGE SMOOTHIE

3 ounces frozen orange juice concentrate
1/2 cup water
1/2 cup milk
1/4 cup corn syrup, or sugar
1/2 teaspoon vanilla
half a dozen ice cubes

Blend all ingredients in a covered blender until smooth.

THE OLD FARMER'S WEATHER PROVERBS

When mists rise in low ground and soon vanish, it's a sure sign of fair weather.

In summer, when many stars twinkle, clear weather is indicated.

OPINION

World Markets Provide Future For Agriculture

As the developing world becomes increasingly prosperous, the demand for bulk foodstuffs and processed foods will continue to grow in the coming decade. This is the belief of Thomas Duesterbueg, director of Hudson Institute's Competitiveness Center, as expressed in a speech delivered at the Institute's 1995 agriculture conference in Washington, D.C., earlier this year.

And U.S. agriculture is one of the few in the world that can meet this growing demand in an environmentally friendly way. Despite considerable obstacles in much of the developing world—such as severe restraints and high tariffs on processed foods, and constant uncertainty due to misuse of phytosanitary standards for protectionist purposes, U.S. agricultural exports achieved record sales in 1994.

To take advantage of the coming increase in world-wide food demand, Congress must unshackle U.S. producers, and U.S. trade negotiators must take aggressive steps to remove existing barriers to world-wide trade in bulk and processed agricultural products.

The International Monetary Fund projects a continuation of robust economic growth in both industrialized and developing worlds in 1995 and beyond. This provides an historic opportunity for agricultural exports. But these markets will not materialize by themselves. U.S. political and agricultural-industry leaders must take the initiative to change policies to allow the U.S. to participate fully in this growth.

If the U.S. is successful in meeting this challenge, the achievement will pay rich dividends for the U.S. agricultural economy for decades to come. Opinion leaders and policymakers must not let their current fatigue with trade policy cloud their thinking and sap their willingness to meet this historic challenge.

Editor:

We are moving forward on the 1995 Farm Bill, and we need your help. It is time to stand up and be counted. Family farmers need to speak up and be heard, because if we don't, corporate farmers will do a good job of speaking for you.

At least they say they will. There is no scientific, economic or moral justification for this nation to allow destruction of our family farms and rural communities. There is no mandate from anyone's God, that this nation has

Now Is The Time

By John Schwartz

Lancaster County
Agricultural Agent

To Graze Pastures Correctly

During the hot, dry days of summer, pasture growth declines. Before you realize it, your pastures are overgrazed and cattle are underfed — two costly mistakes!

Grazing pastures shorter than three to four inches greatly reduces their productivity and they may never fully recover the remainder of this year. Thus, it may be beneficial to restrict grazing time or graze some of the hay fields or supplement cow rations with hay, silage, or more grain.

However, be careful not to overfeed grain. Be sure cows are consuming adequate amounts of forage. The extra hay, silage, or grain may be fed to cows in the pasture, in bunk feeders or it may be fed in well-ventilated stables where they have access to water and a clean place to rest.

To Look For Aphids

According to Robert Anderson, extension agronomy agent, aphids are always a major pest of tobacco. Most years they begin to appear near the end of June or the beginning of July.

Field observations should be conducted regularly after transplanting. Aphid numbers are normally high enough to require spraying about the second week of July.

The last several years, the red aphid seems to be more prevalent than the green aphid in many fields. The red aphid is easier to see and multiplies much faster than the green aphid.

Aphids are sucking-type insects which affect all plants. Maryland-type tobacco is affected more severely because of its susceptibility to etch virus, which is spread by aphids.

Research in Pennsylvania and Maryland shows that control of aphids is important in both the quality and quantity of tobacco marketed. The cost of a regular treatment to control aphids starting in early to mid July and continued to near harvest was paid for by additional yields.

The important point is not to let aphids build up on the tobacco crop at any stage of growth. Once heavy aphid infestations occur, it becomes very difficult to control them under most conditions.

To Look For Blue Mold

Blue mold has been a sporadic problem for tobacco farmers. Normally the fungus just affects the leaf, but when the disease becomes systemic, it affects the entire plant, often wiping out the entire crop.

Early identification and treatment is essential in rescuing the crop.

Blue mold is easily identified in the field by the round yellow spots that appear on the top of the leaf surface. The underside of the leaf will usually have a bluish, gray cottony-like growth. Control of blue mold should have started in the beds followed with an application of Ridomil to the field before transplanting. Fields treated in this manner are usually protected 60 plus days.

Ridomil may also be applied as a layby treatment to the soil at cultivation. Direct most of the product onto the ground and not on the tobacco plant. Ridomil absorbed into the root system will protect the entire plant much better than when it is applied to the leaves.

Left uncontrolled under weather conditions such as Lancaster County had during the last 15 days of June, blue mold can wipe out a tobacco crop.

Any Skeletons Here?

July 2, 1995

Background Scripture:

Amos 1:1-3:2

Devotional Reading:

Psalms 82

As I write this, we are observing the 50th anniversary of V-E Day. For different people it has different meanings. Some celebrate the end of World War II and the crushing of Nazi/Fascist tyranny. Others—some governmental officials in Germany and Austria—have marked the occasion by accepting national responsibility for the tragedy of World War II.

As an American with poignant memories of that era I am glad to see that these people have had the courage to speak openly of national guilt. This is not a matter of continuing to live in judgement of our former enemies, but recognition that guilt unrecognized and unconfessed is a cancer in a people's soul and an invitation to repeat the tragedy.

We all recognize that it is necessary and right that other nations should recognize and repent of their national sins. Currently, at the United Methodist Building in Washington, DC, there is an exhibit that recounts the Japanese abuse of women during World War II. More than 200,000 Asian women were forced into sexual slavery to "service from five to forty Japanese soldiers a day." The coalition of survivors is seeking official compensation from the Japanese government, which to date has been reluctant to respond. I think it is important, not only for the sake of the survivors, but for the Japanese people themselves to acknowledge their culpability in this horrible war crime.

The Dirty War

My wife and I recently visited Buenos Aires. It is a very beautiful and cultured city, but the stigma of the "dirty war" of the 1970s, when thousands of citizens "disappeared" at the hands of government troops still lingers. Recently, the senior bishops of the Roman Catholic Church in Argentina issued a statement expressing remorse for not having done more to prevent violence and government human rights abuses during the struggle between the military and the leftists. Many of us in the United States applaud that statement.

Even more recently, we visited Vietnam on a cruise ship. We were surprised at how warmly we were welcomed in a country governed by the very Communist regime our nation tried to prevent from coming to power. During a sight-seeing excursion to the former Viet Cong tunnels at Co Chi, we were shown a film depicting "American atrocities" during the Vietnam war. Even though the presentation was made up of accurate film clips from western news services and despite the fact I had consistently opposed America's war in Vietnam, I felt indignant that the film showed only American atrocities, not North Vietnamese!

True Patriots

Later, however, it occurred to me that, whether or not the North Vietnamese had committed atrocities—and they did—there had been real atrocities on our side and as an American, I was finding it difficult to accept feelings of remorse. My sense of patriotism had superseded my sense of moral responsibility. And moral responsibility is the highest patriotism of all.

That's why Amos took a circuitous route in his prophecies, beginning with condemnations of Israel's enemies and neighbors, before at last proclaiming: "Thus says the Lord, for three transgressions of Israel and for four, I will not revoke the punishment." Up to this point his audience probably hung on every word as he condemned Damascus, Gaza, Tyre, the Ammonites, Moab, and Judah. What a shock, then, to find that he had prophecies every bit as terrible for Israel, God's own people! They could understand their enemies and neighbors being called to repent, but not God's elect.

So, too, today we would listen enraptured to Amos-like prophecies against Iran, Iraq, Libya, Cuba, Serbia, Bosnia, China and perhaps even Britain and Canada. But can we possibly think that the prophecies would end there? Can we imagine that God has nothing for which to call our nation to repentance? Are there no skeletons in our national closet?

As we move forward on the 1995 Farm Bill, you as farmers need to be in contact with your congressmen and senators about the impact of the current budget proposals and the effects it will have on agriculture. We are constantly reminded by legislators that everything in Washington these days will be "budget-driven." The budget committee establishes various government functions. Once the baseline is established, committees such as the Ag. committee, can shift funds but cannot exceed the cap they were given.

When you sort through all the complexities of the budget numbers for agriculture, it is clear we are facing major budget reductions. Between the House and Senate versions of the 1995 Farm Bill, the budget for agriculture is projected to be slashed by between $8 and $9 billion over the next five years. Depending on how the calculations are done, some expect the total reduction to be nearly $10 billion. These cuts are real and will affect the family farmers' bottom lines.

There is thought of elimination of the support price, which is our safety net for our dairy farmers. It's true, we have not hit the $10.10 per hundred weight support price for the past couple years, but we haven't felt the effects of GATT yet. There are some representatives saying that if they eliminate the support price, they would in return eliminate the assessments that dairy farmers are paying. The assessments on the support price program were not in place in the beginning, they were put there for budget reduction. There are also thoughts of elimination of (DEIP) Dairy Export Incentive Program.

Another theme is, no bill will be passed without the endorsement of the Agricultural Processing and Trade Industry. This means budget savings which could be attained with policy changes, that also increase market prices such as higher loans or acreage adjustments, will not be part of this bill.

Yet another theme for agriculture seems to be "simplicity." No proposal will be accepted that is perceived to add complexity, rules or regulations to agricultural programs. One proposal, which may be viewed as the simplest way to apply cuts in agriculture, is to increase unpaid flex acres from the current 15 percent to 35 percent in order to meet baseline budget numbers. Increasing the unpaid flex acres merely reduces farm income without regard to fairness. If farmers are again being required to endure program cuts to help balance the budget, cuts must be fairly applied. We must be more creative than this proposal. A program that treats all farmers fairly, in the budget cuts, should be the goal.

The Pennsylvania Farmers Union has been tracking the situation as it has unfolded during the budget process, which, for all intents and purposes, is now complete. The amount of the cuts agriculture is being required to endure is far greater than any other program funded by the federal govern-

Dairy Network Partnership Begins

KUTZTOWN (Berks Co.)—At first glance, it appears an unlikely partnership. After all, what do a milk marketing cooperative, a research company, a conservation program, and an alternative farming association have in common?

Plenty, especially when the groups involved share a common goal.

That's the case with Atlantic Dairy Cooperative, the Rodale Institute, the Chesapeake Bay Foundation, and the Pennsylvania Association for Sustainable Agriculture (PASA). The four organizations, with funding from the Pew Charitable Trusts, have joined together under the Dairy Network Partnership.

The goal? To improve water quality in southeast Pennsylvania by reducing nonpoint source (NPS) pollution stemming from dairy farms. The project itself represents a partnership with milk producers, cooperatives, and processors "to identify and implement farming practices that are environmentally sound and economically viable." Simply put, the project plans to identify ways for dairy farmers to further reduce NPS pollution on the farm while minimizing the financial burden of such changes.

The objectives of the project are to:

- Identify and prioritize appropriate farming practices that will improve water quality on dairy farms in southeast Pennsylvania.
- Identify current barriers to and incentives for dairy farmers to adopt those practices.
- Develop additional incentives to help increase the adoption of those practices.
- Establish a network among the key players in the dairy industry in southeast Pennsylvania.

The project partners hope to complete these objectives over the next two years. Key activities will include a conference for industry leaders and dairy producers to be held July 20 and 21. On farm demonstrations, to highlight current farming practices, will be scheduled this fall and during the summer and fall of 1996.

In discussing the Dairy Network Partnership, it is important to recognize that the majority of dairy farmers do a good job in terms of conservation and environmental practices, both for the dairy farmer involved and the consumer who seeks accountability for the food they buy and how it is produced.

Partnership members also recognize that most changes in farming practices come with some cost, be it financial, physical, or labor-oriented. In this regard, the project will be looking at potential incentives and rewards that could be offered to dairy farmers who adopt NPS pollution practices.

During the next few months, project leader Kim Kroll and project associate Chari Towne will be researching such incentives. They will consider technical, educational, regulatory, and economic incentives—what can be used and who can provide them.

Throughout the project, dairy farmers will be called upon to help promote the project's goals. Many Atlantic members, for example, already use environmentally sound farming practices or "best management practices." Such members will be asked to share their experiences through educational meetings or on-farm demonstrations and to show what works and how to include such practices on the farm.

The crux of the Dairy Network is the partnership of the groups involved. Yes, business objectives and philosophies may differ, but that does not mean the partners cannot share common goals and interests. Promotion of environmentally sound farming practices is a responsibility of all agriculture-based businesses. The Dairy Network Partnership provides this vehicle.

126 Cow Free Stall Barn - Quarryville, PA

Lapp's Barn Equipment can install a high-performance/high efficiency tunnel ventilation system in your barn. A tunnel ventilation system will give you an even air flow throughout your barn of 2-5 mph. This gives you the advantage of better controlling temperature to give your cows more comfort which means more milk! Also, a tunnel ventilation system eliminates circulating fans, provides summer and winter ventilation and controls fly problems! An optional unit can even automate your ventilation so you will never even have to worry about it when you're not there, so you can concentrate on other things! At Lapp's, we sell high quality ventilation systems manufactured by Acme Engineering, Acme products feature such things as:

- Galvanized Construction
- Wide Cambered Propeller
- Riveted Blades
- Unique Captured Bearings
- Vertical Support Frame
- Screens Pre-cut
- Totally Enclosed Motors
- Optional Discharge Diffuser Cone
- Optional Belt Tightener

Expo Is Lancaster's Equivalent To Ag Progress Days

ANDY ANDREWS
Lancaster Farming Staff
LANCASTER (Lancaster Co.)

— Lancaster County's Annual Conservation Exposition is "the Ag Progress Days of Lancaster's conservation organizations," said program coordinator Travis Martin.

Martin, district conservation technician, said that the annual Exposition, scheduled Saturday, July 15 at the County Exhibit Farm at the Lancaster Central Park, is open to anyone interested in promoting the benefits of conservation.

At the Expo, scheduled events are as diverse as those found at the annual Penn State Ag Progress Days. They include descriptions of conservation programs and equipment used, tillage demonstrations, precision farming using the global positioning system, a panel discussion on the state Nutrient Management Law, and farm equipment exhibits.

For sports enthusiasts, there will be a countywide representation of various groups, presenting demonstrations and accomplishments of countywide conservation. In addition, one focus of the daylong event will be stream protection and enhancement education provided by hayrides along Mill Creek, which runs through the demonstration farm.

For homeowners, natural lawn care and proper care of septic systems will be featured. And for children, a petting zoo and other fun and informative activities will be offered.

The Expo will not focus simply on farming practices to promote conservation, according to coordinator Jim Shirk, manager of agricultural services for the Lancaster County Chamber of Commerce and Industry.

"Conservation in Lancaster isn't just a farmer here or a stream with a tree there," said Shirk. "It's everybody working together and they're all related in some way. And by having an Expo like this, where we bring all those groups together, they can see how its related to one another — your neighbors affect you and you affect your neighbors."

At last year's Expo held at David Becker's farm in Elizabethtown, about 120 farmers and agri-industry representatives were on hand to view conservation practices and see how "we all live downstream," with emphasis on water quality and Chesapeake Bay conservation programs. But concerns about farm biosecurity prompted the decision to hold the event in a publicly owned, central location such as the county park, where conservation practices are already highlighted.

The park's exhibit farm conservation methods will be discussed in some detail by Harold Fritz, who farms about 41 acres at the 550-acre park, according to

According to Travis Martin, right, the purpose of the Expo, like in the radio commercial, is to invite the neighbors over for lemonade, and instead of calling them neighbors, "start calling them friends." At left is Jim Shirk, manager of ag services, Lancaster Chamber of Commerce.

Lancaster County Park

This year, the Expo emphasis is "As our resources go, so goes the nation," said Martin.

Also, a "soap box" will give program exhibitors and conservation groups a chance to speak out about their activities.

The county residents have many concerns and, like a recent radio commercial, according to Martin, the purpose of the Expo is to invite the neighbors over for lemonade, and instead of calling them neighbors, "start calling them friends."

"The Expo will highlight the conservation work that is going on in the county and to show what neighbors are doing to promote conservation," said Martin. "We want to show each person's responsibilities and give them tools so they can improve the quality of their operation."

For more information, contact Martin at the conservation district office at (717) 299-5361.

Tree plantings for streambank conservation will be highlighted at the Expo.

The focus of the daylong event will be on stream protection and enhancement through hayrides along Mill Creek, which runs through the demonstration farm. These hay wagons will be used at the Expo.

"Conservation in Lancaster isn't just a farmer here or a stream with a tree there," said Shirk, right. "It's everybody working together and they're all related in some way." At left is Travis Martin, county conservation technician.

Summer Conference Themes Are Sales, Motivation

DAVID BIGELOW
Training Coordinator

Pa. DHIA held its 71st annual technician's summer conference on June 16-17, at the Holiday Inn in Indiana, Pa.

Technicians from all parts of the state traveled to Indiana to hear one of the most powerful sales and motivational oriented conferences ever held for Pa. DHIA technicians.

Registration began on June 16 at 10:30 a.m. and was followed with opening remarks from Dean Amick, director of Field Operations; Jay Risser, president of the Technician's Association and David Slusser, general manager of Pa. DHIA.

Concluding the opening remarks, a video was presented, "Don't Fire Them, Fire Them Up."

The main goal of the video was the excite the technicians into getting more out of their job.

A market share development presentation was given by David Zimmerman, region manager for Atlantic Breeders Cooperative. He pointed out in his presentation some ideas that can be used for selling DHIA services. Through group discussion and participation, technicians were able to interact on different selling techniques.

At this point, sales led into the motivational part of the program. Ron Eberhard, an estate consultant and lecturer from Ohio, presented a high-powered program "People Planning-How to Get the Most Out of Me and Those Around Me."

He shared with the technicians many ways they could motivate themselves as well as motivate others to do a better job for Pa. DHIA. Although a serious subject, he was able to be both humorous and serious in his presentation.

After the evening meal, Eberhard had the opportunity to come back and present a program on everyday life. Again both serious and humorous, he was able to drive home the fact that we can enjoy living and live life to its fullest potential.

On Saturday, the day started out with a meal and the awards program.

After the presentation of the awards, a panel discussion was held on the subject of the new Nutrition Program and the West-falia Dairy Plan Program.

Much discussion pursued different ways each program could be best utilized. Many ideas were exchanged and many technicians had the opportunity to ask questions to the panel. Jim Boyer, processing center manager, facilitated the panel discussion.

Ted Brown, director of finance, updated the technicians on their benefits before the staff had a question and answer session to end the technicians' conference.

At Pa. DHIA, we feel that educating technicians through conferences is vitally important to keep them updated on things in the dairy industry.

Please feel free to call Pa. DHIA at 1-800-344-8378, if we can assist with your dairy operation.

Lane Sollenberger, president of the Board of Directors of the Pa. Dairy Herd Improvement Association addresses technicians during the 71st annual technician's summer conference.

Average Farm Feed Costs For Handy Reference

To help farmers across the state to have handy reference of commodity input costs in their feeding operations for DHIA record sheets or to develop livestock feed cost data, here's last week's average costs of various ingredients as compiled from regional reports across the state of Pennsylvania. ## Farm Link Helps Forge First Connection

ling, the first retiring and beginning farmer to be linked in the state's newest program designed to help promote and sustain family farming, Pennsylvania Farm Link.

Presenting the new farmer, Steven Whitling, with a Holstein dairy calf Brosius said, "It is a special pleasure to be here today to participate in this historic occasion that marks the beginning of a new way to ensure the long term viability of Pennsylvania agriculture."

Wishing them both the best of success in keeping the farm profitable and productive, Brosius said Hunt and Whitling were true pioneers in an effort that is vital to our future.

Whitling met Hunt at a Farm

Link workshop in Greensburg in March and after several get-togethers forged a deal to gradually transfer the Hunt farm.

Hunt's arthritis is so bad he had been looking for years to find someone to take over his dairy farm. Under the agreement, which the men plan to renew annually, Whitling provides most of the labor to run the 100-acre farm in Westmoreland County, while Hunt offers expertise and housing.

Whitling will spend the next two years building up his dairy herd, and then if all goes well, he will begin to buy machinery from Hunt. Once the machinery is paid off, Whitling will have first option to buy the farm.

An initiative of the Center for Rural Pennsylvania, Farm Link received over 400 inquiries from people interested in starting to farm and over 75 from people, who want to retire from agriculture since its inception last summer. Hunt and Whitling are the first to make a deal to transfer ownership.

Although the Center's Director, Jeffrey Soule, was unable to be present, he said, "We are fortunate to have such people in rural Pennsylvania to make this possible. Without trust and the willingness to pass knowledge from one generation to the next where would we be?"

Farm Link Coordinator, Marion Bowlan hopes this is the beginning of a trend. She said, "I would like to see more farmers in Pennsylvania's future, not less. Hunt and Whitling's commitment to work together toward that goal is a good start."

In the senior division finals, the New England team outscored the Pennsylvania team in both rounds to become the national champions. The senior winning team members are Rick Brown, Elish Chalker, Jacob Boorhees, and Laurel Rondeau. And the runner-up team members are Matthew Day, David Day, Heath Ocker, and John Creek.

The 1995 Distinguished Junior Awards were given to seven of the 12 semi-finalists. These winners are Molly Aylsworth, Shreve, Ohio; Sandi Hurtgen, Oakdale, California; Shelly Lammers, Bradon, Wisconsin; Christopher McCullough, Juda, Wisconsin; Jason Sheehan, Rochester, Minnesota; Michael Stebbins, Homell, New York, and Candi Taylor, Wendall, Idaho.

One of the attention-getting features of the convention was described by the Sunday Pittsburgh Post-Gazette as "99 dairy cows are 'mooving' to town." Bringing live cows for the national sale into the city of over a million people guarantees media attention. The article in the Post-Gazette explained that the Convention Center prepared for the national sale by covering the concrete floor with tar paper and 15,000 square feet of carpet. Convention Center officials quoted in the article promised constant clean up and no lingering odors after the cattle are gone.

The sale animals were assembled 20 miles north of the city at Marburger Dairy Farm, George Cudoc, manager, and brought to the convention center last Saturday, along with a portable bulk milk tank, and a large supply of hay and straw to keep the five day city dairy farm operation going until after the sale Tuesday evening.

NATIONAL SALE

World-wide interest was generated in the elite offerings of Holstein genetics. The finest of every breeding philosophy in the industry was represented. Many of the animals for sale had four and five generations of excellent dams across the bottom of the pedigree. Both the live auction conducted on Tuesday evening and the silent auction held during the convention drew strong bidding competition.

The first cow in the ring topped the sale at $72,000. Singbrook Aero M Molly-ET, consigned by Singing Brook Farms, Imler, was purchased by Larry Mohnfield, Pleasant Plain, Ohio. This stylish Aerostar was fresh with the first three milk test weights over 100 lbs. as a two-year old. The dam is a VG, 87, Ned Boy daughter with impressive index numbers and a 3y record of 29,970m 1235f 1025p. The dam is a full sister to Mascot. The next dam is 2E, 92-EEEE DMD, and the third dam is 3E 94-EEEE GMD.

The second cow in the ring was the second high selling entry. Consigned by William Peck, Schuylerville, New York, Welcome Bellman Ginger-ET sold to Barry and Diane England and James and Dennis London, Punxsatawney, for $33,000. This Bellman daughter was milking 124 pounds after 133 days as a 2-year-old and had classified VG-85 at 2y5m. The dam had impressive index numbers and a 2y record of 35,200m 1349f 1173p. and was also the dam of "Grand" VG-Extra, 3rd on Canada's LPI list.

A bull package of four brought $100,000 from the PA Pride Syndicate, Millville. The consignors were: Loundondale Farms, Tidy Brook Farms, Mike Weimer, Ken Raney, and George Sheypuk, and Rothrock Golden Holstein Farms, all from Pennsylvania.

At $30,000, Clover-Mist RA Kayak-ET, consigned by Clover Mist Farms, Inc., Manitowoc, Wisconsin, sold to the Kayak Syndicate.

At $28,500, Ked Mascot Julilla-ET, consigned by Edenbrook Holsteins, Knox, sold to U.S. Superior Genetics, Middletown, Wisconsin.

And at $28,000, Londondale Luke Marvelous-ET, consigned by Londondale Farms, Punxsutawney, sold to Frazier and Jeff Paulen, Howard City, Minnesota.

In total, 14 lots sold for $20,000 or more, and the average on 94 lots was $8,770.

The Sunday farm tour featured visits to Somerset County farms. This county is well-known as "The Land of Milk and Maple." The four bus loads of National Holstein Convention attendees didn't see any maple (although they were given several pieces of maple candy by the Somerset Holstein Club), but the land of milk was well-documented.

standing among beautiful cows in the long rows down through the station barn made an impressive show. Owners Gerald and Patricia Carr and family, Michael, Paul, Daniel, Lisa, and Austin, farm 300 acres of corn, alfalfa, and oats. Their 95 milk cows average 24,487m, 904f, 804p. BAA is 106.3, and they have received the PBR Award for the last four years.

"At Carrdale we try to breed cows with correct functional type that are also a pleasure to look at and work with throughout the year," Gerald said. "Using a combination of the Red Book and aAa, we try to mate cows to the more popular bulls but not necessarily the top 'numbers bulls.' Udders and feet and legs receive strong emphasis although we try to maintain a well-balanced individual with enough strength and capacity to consume the feed needed for high production."

The Carr family started their farm operation with few assets and borrowed money. The present show place and excellent herd of registered Holsteins is an example of what can be done with determination and hard work. A sign on a public building in Davidsville, seen as the bus passed by, summarized the Carrdale philosophy: "Opportunity is often dressed up in work clothes."

MISHLER HOLSTEINS

At Mishler Holstein farm, Hollsopple, Mark and Helen Mishler concentrate on quality with a relatively small herd of 45 registered Holstein milk cows. The herd was started when Mark and Helen joined the cows they each owned when they got married. Today this outstanding herd has a BAA of 108.9 on 42 head. This includes 9 EX, 32 VG, and none lower than 80 points.

The Mishlers farm of 200 acres of alfalfa, grass, corn, and oats. They try to also have the best crops possible to make milk with their small herd.

"My philosophy on breeding cattle is quite simple," Mark said. "First and foremost, we must have a top type bull that excels in superior stature, strength, and thurl width. Once we have the framework, we then focus on breeding for outstanding udders with excellent udder clearance. As far as feet and legs go, we never really breed for that but instead think that management of the cows play a more critical role. Keeping he calves and heifers on concrete instead of a manure pack seems to have kept our troubles limited. And as far as milk and components go, the results we get from using the high type bulls are very pleasing to us."

This impressive show place has been designated a "Dairy of Distinction" by the Pennsylvania Farm Beautification Program.

HILLMONT FARM

At Hillmont Farm, Berlin, the Peach cow family takes your eye. Not only are these beautiful cows housed in free stalls and milked in a parlor, they boast of the first fifth generation Excellent in the herd and have actual records to 29,660m, 1152f, 1010p.

The farm is owned by Jay and Kirk Hillegass and family, Connie, Tine, Juliana, Luke, and Alec.

"Our ultimate goal is to breed the multiple generation excellent cow with index that shows well," Kirk said. "This is not easy! It takes a very strong cow family to do this. The most important thing is to match the bull and cow to the best of your ability. It helps to get several opinions. In staying up with the index system, we find ourselves flushing our virgin heifers to the newest hot sire or even a young sire. I cannot stress enough the importance of the "cow family."

BERKLINE HOLSTEINS

At Berkline Holstein Farm, Berlin, Lewis and Barbara Berkley and daughters, Michele, Nancy, and Gina have developed 36 EX cows and this type shows through in the 70 cows that stand in the tie-stall barn. Of course, not only do they look good, the latest DHIR year shows the herd average of 25,558m, 1002f, 843p. This fifth generation farm is a Century Farm that has 620 acres in two farms with 250 tillable and 220 in woodland.

Lewis told the group that Somerset County is often referred to as the "Roof Garden of Pennsylvania," and he said the county has a good climate to develop cows. The cooler summer makes the cows more comfortable.

"We put a great deal of emphasis on cow families that we know can transmit type and production," Lewis said. "We stress functional type with a strong emphasis on protecting the udders, as well as the feet and legs when choosing a mating. Cows like this have more longevity and are our money-makers. We use AAA and our classification breakdowns when choosing our matings. Herd health is very important to us. We strongly believe that you can breed for type, production, and protein, as well as keep the indexes progressing with the service sires that are available to us as breeders today."

Lewis is the immediate past president of the Pennsylvania Holstein Association.

Monday was the day for the 1,500 dairy farmers from around the world to take to the streets and rivers of Pittsburgh to see the sights. Actually, Pittsburgh got a chance to see the farmers, hordes of them walking up Penn Avenue and crossing the street, oblivious to the backed-up car, bus, and truck traffic that patiently waited until the farmers finally observed the "Don't walk" lights.

A milking contest in front of the convention center gave these city folks another view of dairy farmers in action. Well, some of them were old dairy farmers, but these celebrities added to Pittsburgh's dairy farm education.

By the way, Paul Miller, Pennsylvania dairy farmer, and Mel Hertzler, National Holstein, formed the team that won the milking contest. And Charles Brosius, Pennsylvania ag secretary, and Boyd Wolff, immediate past Pennsylvania ag secretary came in second. The second place winners are the "old" dairy farmers referred to above.

The farmers did see a lot of Pittsburgh. An early morning walk through the wholesale market district was enlightening. Later in the day, the cultural tour to Carnegie Museum of Natural History and the Pittsburgh rivers tour took the participants to the top of Mt. Washington for a view of the city and then on to a luncheon cruise on all three rivers that meet in Pittsburgh.

The junior Holstein breeders had their own tour that included the Meadows Racetrack and the Carnegie Science Center. And the amateur golfers headed for the Ft. Cherry course.

At the end of the day, everyone met at the Point State Park for a "Taste of Pennsylvania" cookout that was so nicely arranged by the host committees. Unfortunately, a sharp, windy thunderstorm with a heavy downpour descended on the city just at the time the meal was to be served. This caused some inconvenience and blew away the beautiful flowers that were arranged around the tents, but many of the farmers from other states were just hoping they were getting rain at home.

SEC. BROSIUS SPEAKS

Later in the evening the River City Brass Band played as chairs and the grass started to dry. And at intermission, Secretary Brosius greeted the conventioners and welcomed the Holstein breeders from around the world to Pennsylvania.

"Farming is our number one industry, and dairy leads our Pennsylvania agriculture," Brosius said. "Holstein breeders make up such a large segment of the dairy industry, and it is significant that you are meeting during the month of June that is traditionally celebrated as dairy month."

"The dairy industry has many concerns and challenges that must be met if we are to continue to be successful. As we implement GATT, we must look at what this really means. GATT has eliminated what is known as section 22 import quotas. This guarantees the rest of the world to greater access to our domestic markets. We have to understand that every country has policy and programs which help it meet the food needs of its citizens while capitalizing on potential trade opportunities."

GATT does not eliminate the use of export subsidies or other unfair trade procedures by other countries. It merely reduces their overall level."

Brosius said that in Philadelphia we have the largest deep water port on the east coast. This port is within 24 hour reach by refrigerated truck to 50 percent of the U.S. population and 60 percent of the Canadian population.

"We must take leadership in positioning the Pennsylvania dairy industry to be an aggressive part of the new global economy because we are truly in an international market," Brosius said. "You in the Holstein industry have been leaders in exporting your fine genetics internationally. In fact, you have done such a good job that foreign countries now compete with us on the world market."

KERR REPORTS

At the opening session of the 110th annual meeting of the Holstein Association USA, Steve Kerr, executive secretary, said the state of the Holstein Association is "pretty good."

"We have learned how to let your management and merchandising needs drive our product development," Kerr said. "We have learned how to listen to our members, treat them as valued customers and work with them to develop affordable tools that will improve their farm profitability."

The National Holstein Convention booklet was dedicated to these two famous Holstein officials: Bill Nichol, executive secretary of the Pennsylvania Holstein Association, and Robert Rumler, retired, executive chairman, National Holstein Association.

"I believe that you derive enjoyment, as well as livelihood, from the effort that you so successfully put into breeding and milking Holstein cattle. Yours is not an easy or simple undertaking: being the complex puzzles that they are, neither genetics, markets, nor the weather lend themselves to the promises of simple slogans or magic bullets."

Kerr said that two sets of innovations, an array of practical identification tools and a user-defined set of classification options, have consumed much of the Board's and staff's time in the past year and a half. And he said the partnership between the Association and the U.S. AI industry brings together a shared mutual interest in breeding Holstein cattle. And Kerr announced a plan to produce A-Value herd reports for DHIR herds and print A-Values on pedigrees by 1996.

"For years members have asked for a method by which to evaluate and present their Holsteins using phenotypic information alone, Kerr said. "Advocates of productive, deep cow families have understandably criticized the association for offering nothing other than predictive genetic evaluations. Although it has been a long time in coming, we are not testing the A-Value system of phenotypic analysis recommended by your committee on the value of registered cattle. This is an exciting prospect. The committee, board, and staff have collaborated to produce the system now being tested by 280 DHIR herds."

The association reported a net income of $704,000 for 1994 with a net worth of over $16 million.

Kerr said the Association neither promotes nor discourages the use of foreign genetics, but they do aggressively promote the sound understanding of pedigrees and performance of those genetics. This means working with foreign herdbooks to convert their genetic evaluations to U.S. terms so that breeders can make the necessary comparisons.

PRESIDENT SELZ REPORTS

President John Selz, dairy farmer from Humbird, Wisconsin, said the Association is on track and coming in ahead of schedule. While admitting some mistakes in the past, Selz said, "We need to position ourselves for the future."

"Future challenges will be no less (than challenges of the past)," Selz said. "The trends of a shrinking member base, the need to address tighter profit margins, the demands to avoid duplicate cost and time efforts must continue to be addressed. For our Association to remain strong and competitive, we must further develop grass roots involvement, volunteer leadership, and cement a stronger state and national association relationship."

"It's time to put in place a combined state and national membership program with automatic renewal and one billing system."

Holstein programs and activities at the grass roots level should be joint programs sponsored by state and national Holstein, other breed organizations, AI, DHIA, and any other dairy organization or business with a vested interest. Dairy cattle improvements, farm profitability, and quality of farm life should be a common goal. And let's be sure to give special attention to our youth.

"My hope before leaving the board was total electronic calf registry, computer to computer via modem. We are close. Recently we registered a group of calves by diskette. Registering calves is now speedier than coming up with a new name! Regular registry should be an even simpler process with no human effort at Brattleboro."

"Flexible classification options have reduced the time and cost of classifying for larger herd owner. These same types of flexible options need to be available in our production testing programs. Why do we continue to bear the cost of monthly testing on older cows whose genetic merit was established in her first two lactations? We must let dairymen production test a selected core herd or be in danger of losing the whole herd."

Selz was not eligible to be reelected president so he completed his term later during the convention when John Cope was elected.

"I leave this week feeling very good about Holstein Association USA," Selz said. "Not totally feeling good about the dairy industry, but your association is in good hands. What a good time to say 'thank you' and 'good bye,' because all is well that ends well."

Maryland Holstein Sets Picnic

M O N K T O N, Md. — Maryland Holstein Association's second annual picnic is set to be held at My Ladys Manor Farm, in Monkton, Md., starting at 10 a.m., August 12.

In addition to a catered lunch, there are to be booths and displays, a classification program by Tom Moses from Hostein USA, foot trimming demonstrations, a calf drawing, swimming, tours, volleyball, games, etc.

The farm is home of the Smith families who have been working hard to make this an extra special event that members and children will remember.

The calf drawing is free to all youth under age 21 present and registered to win. Free T-Shirts will also be given out to all youth attending.

Bathing suits should be brought along for swimming in the Smiths' swimming pool, and comfortable shoes for volleyball, games and tours of the farm and facilities.

From Exit 27B on Rt.695, travel north on Rt. 146, go west on Rt. 23 for two miles, make a left onto Old York Road, and My Ladys Manor Farm is the first farm on the left.

There is no charge for the event. For more information, call Harold and Colleen Smith at (410) 557-8522; Robert and Mary Smith at (410) 692-6186; or Ross and Jeanette Smith at (410) 692-6561.

Landis Bros. Break Ground To Build New Facility

MANHEIM (Lancaster Co.) — Using an antique John Deere plow, Landis Bros., Inc., broke ground recently to begin construction of a 24,500 square foot sales and service facility at 2710 Mt. Joy Road in Manheim.

"Building is not a new idea but an idea whose time has come," Herb Noll, president and general manager of Landis Bros., Inc., told the crowd attending ground breaking ceremonies on June 22.

The new facilities are expected to better serve their clients with both sales and service and provide more efficient work space for the 39 employees. The selected location for the new facility is seven miles west of Lancaster at the intersection of Route 283 and Route 772.

Noll along with fellow-owners Phil Wimer and Mark Weaver used the antique plow, which was built before the 1900s, for the initial ground breaking then switched to a John Deere 8100 to carve the initials J.D. into the soil.

Later, John Deere Gator rides around the perimeter of the nine-acre site were offered to those attending the ceremonies.

What is known as Lancaster County's oldest John Deere dealer was founded in 1920 by Elmer and Ben Landis. The farm implement and supply store was housed on the second floor of the Northern Market, on North Queen Street in Lancaster. Later, the business was moved to 1305 Manheim Pike, where it is still located.

In 1988, three of the company's employees, Noll, Wimer, and Weaver, purchased the business while renting the Manheim Pike property. In 1994, the owners purchased a dealership in Lebanon.

The dealership has consistently received Super Service Dealer awards, which is given to only 20 dealerships out of approximately Thirty-nine Landis Bros. Inc. employees gather around the plow for ground breaking ceremonies. Each employee was interviewed by the builder to determine the needs and insight each have in order to make the new facility a more efficient, pleasant, and safe worksite.

District Announces Conservationist

WEST CHESTER (Chester Co.)—The Chester County Conservation District announces the employment of Randy Aman as nutrient management resource conservationist.

Aman is from Kimberton. His background includes a degree in agricultural business from SUNY Cobleskill and a lifelong farming experience associated with the operation of his family's Chester County farm.

As a nutrient management resource conservationist, Aman will be directly involved with the Brandywine, Pickering, and French Creek watershed areas. He will provide technical assistance to the district for implementation of nutrient management plans as well as best management practices.

Efforts will be focused on promotion of the wise use of nutrients and pesticide management and erosion control practices. These practices can help reduce the amounts of nutrients, chemicals, and sediments which can pollute our waters because of agriculture.

300. Last year, they receive John Deere's newly created Dealer Signature Award given to dealerships that excel in sales, service, and parts.

Jerry Thomas, area sales representative for John Deere, compared the growth of the Landis' dealership as parallel to that of the parent company (John Deere) in Columbus, Ohio.

He said, "In 1920, when Landis

Bros. started in Lancaster, 'Big John' made only one tractor model. In 1953, it was selling five, and in 1995, it is building 20 tractors and 25 models of the lawn and garden tractors."

In planning the facility, both customer and the 39 employees' needs were considered. The two-story steel structure will have the shop, parts, retail, and service areas on the first floor. Offices, storage areas, the lunchroom and plenty of open space for future growth will be on the second level.

The completion date for the facility, which is being built by FTF Construction, Inc., is projected to be Jan. 1.

The Manheim Pike business will move to the new facility but the Lebanon branch store will continue to operate as a sales and service center.

session. Robin will be attending the NICE conference.

Mike, 17, is a first-year scholar who will be attending NICE. Mike, West Perry FFA member, said he made the selection to NICE "one of my goals."

"FFA taught me how to reach for that goal, and the Penn State/PCC Institute provided great opportunities for leadership," he said.

Mike was the session chairman for the general sessions. The opportunity to "get in front of crowds" and speak helped improve his management and leadership skills.

The Jay Irwin Leadership Award is presented annually to a male and female participant at the institute who excel in leadership, named after Jay Irwin, retired Lancaster County extension director. Irwin has served with the institute since 1961.

Irwin said there are many factors that determine those receiving the award, including their total involvement in the many leadership aspects of the institute. A big factor, according to Irwin, is their involvement in the institute's own cooperative, Minico, which has teams competing to sell T-shirts, candy, soda, and other items.

Others honored at the event include:

- The Hal Doran Leader Award. This annual award is presented to an outstanding resource leader, in honor of Hal Doran, cooperative business program leader. Recipient went to Gerald Strickler, who served six years on the resource leader staff.

- Your Viewpoint awards. These awards honor participants who spoke on a subject of their choice. First place went to Jessica Watson, Newmanstown, for her essay, "Have A Heart For Inner City Kids." Second place went to Kristina Watson, Shermans Dale.

- Walter Loy Quiz awards.

Associations Approve Merger

KANSAS CITY, Mo. — Memberships of the American Hereford Association (AHA) and the American Polled Hereford Association (APHA) have approved a merger of the two organizations, effective Sept. 1.

The historic combining of the two white-faced beef cattle registries culminates a year and a half of planning and negotiating, which will result in the new AHA becoming the second largest breed in the nation in terms of registry numbers. Both votes were held in early June.

H.H. "Hop" Dickenson, AHA chief executive officer, reported that nearly 87 percent of the AHA members voted in favor of the merger, with 50 percent of those eligible returning ballots. APHA's CEO Ed Bible said that 89 percent of the APHA members voted in favor, with nearly 40 percent returning ballots. Dickenson will serve as chief executive officer of the newly merged association. APHA personnel will move into the AHA's headquarters building in downtown Kansas City.

PCC NICE alternates are, first year, Carrie Snyder, Elizabethtown and Connie Zeiset, East Earl. Second year alternates are Melissa Evans, Conneautville and Sara Duncan, Meadville.

PCC first year to NICE are Michael Clark, Loysville; Scott Byers, Liverpool; Laura Phillips, Mohrsville; Peter Henning, Mehoopany; and Darrell Smith, Linesville.

PCC second year to NICE are Robin Davies, Tunkhannock; Heather Lehman, Mechanicsburg; and Lloyd Bier, Carlisle.

"Even though this is not the first time we've entered into merger discussions," Dickenson said, "the timing proved to be right in this instance. Breeders in both associations saw the need for the great efficiencies to be gained from a merged organization."

Policy for the association will be set by an initial board of 18 directors, nine from each of the existing associations, with a rotation set to bring the final number to twelve. Glynn Debter, Horton, Ala., will serve as interim board chairman.

Awards honor participants who spoke on a subject of their choice. First place went to Jessica Watson, Newmanstown, center, for her essay, "Have A Heart For Inner City Kids." Second place went to Kristina Watson, Shermans Dale, right. Also, youth were honored for presentations, including one by a group called The Streak. Representing The Streak for the award was Darrell "Spike" Smith.

The Latuch Brothers Dairy Farms operation sits surrounded by its 406 acres, providing a peaceful setting for the county Farm Bureau educational/fun event, Day at the Farm.

Latuch Brothers Host For Day At Farm

GAY BROWNLEE

Somerset Co. Correspondent
ROCKWOOD (Somerset Co.) — For the past 11 years the Somerset County Farm Bureau has sponsored a public educational event, "Day at the Farm."

The 12th annual event is scheduled to be held from 1 p.m. to 4 p.m. Sunday, July 2, at the Latuch Brothers Dairy, located south of Somerset, off of Rt. 281.

Signs are to be erected along the highway, showing where to turn. Given good weather, a Sani-Dairy blimp should be tethered near the farm, serving as a landmark and curiosity.

Partners in the dairy farm operation, brothers Roger and David Latuch and their uncle Ted Latuch have been preparing for the event, which promises as much fun for the hosts as for the guests.

Milk chugging and hay bale tossing contests, hay rides, a petting zoo, sheep shearing demonstrations, and square dancers, free samples of beef, lamb, and pork, milk and dairy products and maple sundaes, and potato chips are a portion of the activities and festivities planned for this open-farm event.

A committee which organizes the event studied the layout of the farm to plan the design of event. The Latuchs said that is welcome planning, because of having finished planting and trying to get in the first cutting hay.

"We should be done with hay by this time, but this year's been an uphill battle because of the rain we've had."

The Latuchs 406-acre farming operation was expanded several years ago when they bought an adjacent farm to accommodate the partnership.

blind, takes care of the calves and does sire selection.

They normally raise their own replacements, but occasionally purchase additions.

Crops raised include 100 acres each of corn and alfalfa and 45 acres of oats.

Two 90-foot concrete silos and a 60-foot Harvestore are used to hold high moisture corn, corn silage and haylage, and along with a monthly addition of 500 pounds supplement, the cows are fed a totally mixed ration (TMR).

Forage testing occurs about monthly and a nutritionist is used to balance the ration, taking into consideration pasture forages.

The Latuchs have laid out eight paddocks on the farm; six for night pasturing and two for daytime use.

"We really like to pasture," Roger said. "We felt it's better all around for the cows, but it's not really intensive grazing. It's rota-

Immediate Help For Snap Bean Growers

Lancaster Farming, Saturday, July 1, 1995-A35

HARRISBURG (Dauphin Co.)—State Agriculture Secretary Charles C. Brosius has issued a crisis exemption for the herbicide "Reflex" so that it may be used on snap bean fields. The fields are threatened by horsenettle and other weeds that could limit bean harvests.

"Snap bean growers must act quickly if their fields are threatened by certain weeds," Brosius said. "Horsenettle, in particular, is difficult to control without the use of Reflex."

Horsenettle is a perennial weed that produces small, poisonous berries that turn from green to yellow as they mature. The fruit is difficult to separate from snap beans under normal harvesting procedures.

Applications of Reflex must be made prior to complete canopy development of the snap bean crop and prior to the development of fruits by the horsenettle. Growers may begin making applications immediately.

Reflex is approved by the Environmental Protection Agency (EPA) for use on soybeans. It is available from commercial agricultural chemical dealers.

The department currently has an application for an emergency exemption for Reflex pending with the EPA. The EPA has taken longer than the normal 50-day review period to act on the department's request, warranting the need for the crisis exemption.

The crisis exemption expires on July 7. The department's request for an emergency exemption is expected to be approved by the EPA, allowing growers to continue use during the normal application period. Growers must discontinue use of this product on snap beans after the expiration date of the emergency exemption.

Pennsylvania produced 14,370 tons of snap beans in 1993. The crop was valued at $3,377,00.

For more information about the crisis exemption, snap bean growers should contact John Lake of the department's Bureau of Plant Industry at (717) 787-4843.

tional grazing."

Roger uses a computer to keep records and has an office located next to the parlor and the partnership markets its milk to Galliker's Dairy in Johnstown.

The Latuchs are a family farm. Roger and his wife Avis have three children, Andrew, 19, Kristi, 15, and Tim, 13.

David's children are Brittney, 10, Bridgett, 8, Brooke, 6, and Scott, 4.

The older children are members of the Milkshaker's 4-H Club, and have project animals they show in the county fair, held in August.

In addition to helping with the county Farm Bureau project, Roger is also involved with outside conservation groups.

Currently serving as president of the Casselman River Watershed Association, he said the organization has a goal of reclaiming the river. He is also a member of the county Conservation District and the Somerset County Conservancy.

The Latuchs said they welcomed visitors for the educational, family fun event.

When asked why they agreed to serve as host for the event, Roger grinned and said, "Well. Somebody's got to do it. Besides, it gives us the incentive to do things (around the farm) that need to be done."

Rogers Joins Horse Racing Commission

HARRISBURG (Dauphin Co.)—Agriculture Secretary Charles C. Brosius recently announced that Gov. Tom Ridge's nomination of C. Edward Rogers, Jr. to the Pennsylvania Harness Racing Commission (PHRC) has been confirmed by the Senate.

Gov. Ridge nominated Rogers, of Mechanicsburg, Cumberland County, to the PHRC on April 18.

"Ed Rogers is well qualified for this position on the PHRC," Brosius said. "He has an extensive background in both harness racing and financial management."

Rogers, 54, is a graduate of Lebanon Valley College and is currently president of the accounting firm Greenawalt & Company, P. C. of Mechanicsburg. He first joined the firm as a partner in 1973.

He has been involved in harness racing activities for nearly 30 years as an owner, trainer, breeder and driver.

The State Harness Racing Commission oversees harness racing activities throughout the commonwealth, including licensing of all participants and enforcement of all laws and regulations pertaining to harness racing.

There are two commissioners and one chairman at the PHRC. Commissioners, who meet monthly, also handle the adjudication of appeals of judges' rulings, track ejections and licensing violations.

Dairy, Diversity, Education Are Heart Of Friendship Farms

GAY BROWNLEE
Somerset Co.
Correspondent

MEYERSDALE (Somerset Co.) — Friendship Farms in Meyersdale, owned by Jim and Doris Stutzman, thrives on diversity, according to Jim.

Actually operating on two farms, the Stutzman family has its hands in several pots.

Besides milking some 58 head of Holsteins, they raise a few beef cattle (20 Angus calves, heifers and bulls), and corn, oats, rye and hay.

Most years, maple syrup also joins the commodities. Everything the farm doesn't need is sold.

"We diversified because prices run in cycles," Jim said. "You try to hit the high sides. When the price of crops is off, you can run them through the animals."

"We don't use any no-till. We use some rotational grazing, but not with paddocks. Most of ours are pastures that are non-tillable, but have water sources," he said.

A hundred acres are sown with corn. Oats and rye each claim 60 to 70 acres. Hay covers the rest of the land that isn't wooded or otherwise unfit for cultivation.

The two properties trace back through Doris's side of the family — the Millers — for about 200 years.

One of the farms was sold years ago. However, 20 years ago, Jim and Doris purchased the adjacent farm to get it back within family ownership.

It's a decision they've never regretted, they said, especially since Doris's father, Ernest "Pap" Miller, died unexpectedly last October. His lifelong wish, Doris said, was to keep both farms within the family.

The Stutzmans have two children Becky, 23, and Marty, 19, who represent the eighth generation on the farm.

Diversity has enabled the Stutzmans to keep the operation going and the family on the farm.

In addition to doing farm work,

Jim has been a junior high school science teacher for 20 years.

For most of his additional farm labor, he has had students from the high school work during summers, helping with haying, and chores.

"They (the students) juggle with other employment and school sports," Jim said. "We've used school kids for years. As the seniors move on, younger ones take their place, but (the seniors) teach the younger ones (the job) before moving on."

Jim said he doesn't mind that the work he offers is transitional for the youth, adding that he and Doris want the youth to move on to other experiences after getting their experience with farm work.

For some of the youth, working for the Stutzmans has become a sort of pre-season football warmup.

In fact, some of the football playing students expanded the farm name to "Friendship Farms Training Camp," because of the physical labor involved.

Two different crews of high school football players working at two different sites to stack hay has resulted in some friendly competition of strength and endurance to see who finishes first.

According to Marty, who went to school with some of the help, the other incentive was that the faster the hay was stacked, the longer respite before the next wagon load came in from the field.

"The quicker they go it off (the wagon), the longer break they got," Marty said, grinning.

"They worked hard, and I think it got them ready for football," Jim said. "They also learned punctuality and reliability. It helped us and gave them some spending cash," he said.

According to Jim's calculations, in good years, if he got three cuttings of hay, the summer help would stack 20,000 bales.

However, the Stutzmans cut back on the number of acres they farm. They no longer lease 300 acres in addition to their own 500.

While Jim said the leased land was sold to someone who farms it, Doris said she had a different notion about why the matter.

"Old age. It was old age," she said.

Doris held off-farm jobs before they had children, but has since focused on raising them and taking care of the household, in addition to helping around the farm.

"I get to do the dishes in the barn, too," she said, "and drive tractor if they are desperate." She said she dislikes any machine bigger than she.

Jim has been on sabbatical, which ends this fall. He's been to Missouri to visit and to eastern Pennsylvania for the National Science Teachers Convention.

The time off has helped greatly after losing Ernest, they said.

Even though on sabbatical, education continues to be important for the family.

Becky graduated from Frostburg State University on May 13 with a degree in health and physical education, and has been job hunting.

Marty completed his freshman year at Garrett Community College, in McHenry, Md., where he's pursuing a degree in agricultural management.

Jim has been taking classes too. Earning 12 credits through the Gannon University outreach classes, Jim said, "I found out I'd rather be the teacher than the teacher."

On the farm, Jim and Marty makes decisions together after discussion, but Jim said Marty manages the dairy.

The cows are fed a totally mixed ration, and test forages about every two weeks. Each month a veterinarian conducts a herd health check.

According to Jim, they haven't had a serious cow health problem for a long time, though he said that weather has been frustrating.

"It's been difficult weather to raise calves," he said. "The undulating temperatures ... is hard on calves."

They market their milk through the Maryland Virginia Cooperative.

Jim and Doris are involved with other activities also.

In February, Jim became president of the Pennsylvania Young Farmers Association, succeeding James Berry of Brookville. In the association, the past president is an active member who assists the serving president.

"We try to share a lot of responsibility on the executive board to cut down expenses," Jim said.

They've been working to prepare for the next winter convention, set for February 1996, with Somerset County to serve as host. There are three YF chapters in the county.

Stutzman also said he really believes in the organization because it is about learning. He said he would like to see more people involved, men and women. He said they would enjoy the conventions, the learning, the sharing of experiences and knowledge, and the conventions.

"(The convention) is like a class reunion," he said.

Massey Ferguson Introduces New Tractor Series

HARRISBURG (Dauphin Co.) — Massey Ferguson recently introduced its new line of tractors to dealers and dealer representatives in the central Pennsylvania region during a seminar held at the Best Western Crown Park hotel and convention center in Harrisburg.

The theme of the introduction was "Experience the Power."

A new 6100 series and a 8100 series of tractors are being offered in two- and four-wheel drives featuring a new Dynashift transmission design, DynaTorque engines as well as hydraulic systems designs with special pressure release systems.

There are three 6100 series, the 6150, 6170 and 6180 tractors, and there are four 8100 series models — the 8120, 8140, 8150, 8160.

They all come with several options, but all come with a new cab designed for the working farmer.

The air conditioned driver compartments feature tight seals around doors and windows, a rear window that seals tightly but can pop open easily to adjust hydraulic controls for operating implements, and a roof vent.

The seals are made tight so that dust and debris laden air don't fill the compartment and noise is reduced significantly. For those wishing a mixture of fresh air with air conditioning can pop open the roof vent to get fresh air without bringing dust and dirt into the cab.

The controls are designed for large hands and sensible accessibility.

Though computerization is built into the system, with such features as automatic 4-wheel drive kick-in when operating brakes, and kick-out at 9 miles per hour, when traveling from the field out onto a highway.

The dash and instrument panel is designed similar to an automotive dash, with the emphasis on keeping the controls of the modern technology simple and easy.

The dash shows the fuel gauge, engine tachometer, temperature gauge, tractor ground speed, and PTO speed on easy to see LED readouts.

A series of warning lights located in a double row below the main gauges indicates the functionality of the machine's critical functions, such as what transmission range the vehicle is in, the condition of the transmission oil filter, etc.

Each carries the DynaTorque engine and the option of a 32-speed Dynashift or a 16-speed Sheedshift transmission.

They also have an optional creeper transmission range for extra slow operation; a new wet, multi-disc main drive clutch and many other features.

The 6100 series and the 8120 use Perkins engines, while the 8140, 50, and 60 use a Valmet engine, both engine renown for reliability and efficiency.

The Autotronic computer systems provides automated control of key operating functions, while an additional new Datatronic II monitor is an option on the 8100 series.

The new 8160 model Massey Ferguson tractor is designed for balance, strength, good field weight, ease of operation, safety and durability.

The new 8120 model Massey Ferguson, in two-wheel drive.

Groundbreaking

During the groundbreaking event for the new diagnostic laboratory, Brosius shared the stage with Secretary of the Department of General Services Gary Crowell, and Maria Keating Titleman, the governor's deputy chief of staff for government affairs and cabinet liaison.

Crowell talked about how this project was significant because of the cooperation within government, the agricultural industry and the private sector to move Pennsylvania forward.

Titleman, who represented Gov. Ridge for the ceremony, talked about the importance of the project not just to the animal agriculture industry, but to all Pennsylvanians. She also cited a fact that 70 percent of the $3.6 billion state agriculture industry business comes from animal agriculture.

Speaking last, Brosius reiterated Titleman's observation of the economic importance of the animal agriculture to the state and to all of its residents.

"It becomes obvious what an integral part this new laboratory will play in maintaining the integrity of the health of the animal population in the Commonwealth."

He explained that the new $6.7 million lab, expected to be completed next summer, has "primary responsibility for the regulatory testing of the Department (PDA), and is the primary site for import-export testing — an increasingly important component for Pennsylvania's animal industry."

When the state's Summerdale Laboratory, built in the 1920s, lost its accreditation, other, out-of-state facilities had to be used for necessary health certification tests, sending money out of this state's economic system.

Further, the animal agriculture industry has changed in all aspects since the 1920s and the threat of spread of disease between animals and between animals and people has been greatly increased.

"With the very dense populations of animals (in close proximity to large populations of people) in Pennsylvania, the threat of disease is real and ever present.

"We have had some tragic experiences with diseases, and the ability of this lab to respond in a timely way to assist the producers in the state is essential."

In recognizing those who helped bring about new laboratory, Brosius said, "It needs to be made perfectly clear that I am here reaping the benefit of the very hard work of a lot of dedicated people."

He recognized the facilities designer, the members of the state's Animal Health Commission, and the cooperating university laboratories with whom PDA has the tripartite Animal Health and Diagnostic System.

Specifically, Brosius mentioned Animal Health and Diagnostic System partners, Dr. Alan Kelly, dean of veterinary medicine at the University of Pennsylvania New Bolton Center, and Dr. Channa Reddy, acting head of the Veterinary Science Department of the Penn State University College of Agricultural Sciences.

Brosius also made a special point of recognizing former Secretary of Agriculture Boyd Wolff — "... under whose leadership the project was conceived and developed."

He also recognized Robert Bitenbender, secretary of the budget, "... without whose support and approval this project could not have become reality."

A drawing of the proposed laboratory building was displayed during the event, but details, such as the specific types of services, number of square feet, number of people employed, etc., were not made available by presstime.

Swearing In

The administration of the oath of office to Secretary Brosius was even more well attended.

The lobby of the agriculture building was packed with people — senators, lobbyists, representatives and leaders of the state's agricultural organizations, friends, family, department staff, camera crews, photographers, journalists — all crowded around a platform where Gov. Ridge and Secretary Brosius sat with Sen. Earl Baker, chairman of the Senate Labor and Industry Committee, who presided over the ceremony, Rep. Joseph Pitts, chairman of the House Appropriations Committee, and District Justice Thomas Martin Jr., who administered the oath.

Not only did Martin and Gov. Tom Ridge go to Dickenson Law School together, but Brosius was Martin's 4-H advisor when Martin was growing up on his family farm, the fourth oldest family farm in the state.

Also on stage was Brosius's mother Dorothy and his wife Jane. Nearby were his sisters Peggy and Elinor, one of his sons, Harold, a grandson Kyle, a daughter-in-law and two granddaughters.

Brosius took the oath of office by swearing on his mother's 75-year-old bible.

At least a couple hundred people couldn't fit inside the lobby, but were pressed up close to the lobby's large glass windows, and almost completely occupied the large cement patio at the entrance of the agriculture building. Loudspeakers on stands were placed on the patio so those standing in the lobby could listen to the ceremony. For the post-swearing-in reception, two groups of dairy princesses were set up with tables on the patio serving ice cream, while two serving lines were set up in the center of the patio and filled with Pennsylvania foods. After introductions by Sen.

From the left, Secretary of Agriculture Charles Brosius, Maria Keating Titleman, deputy chief of staff for government affairs and cabinet liaison, and Secretary of the Department of General Services Gary Crowell symbolically break ground for the construction of a $6.7 million diagnostic laboratory adjacent to the state agriculture building. The lab is actually to be located on the north end of the building, not on the south side.

Baker and Rep. Pitts, Gov. Ridge discussed his reasons for selecting Brosius as his choice for agriculture secretary.

Ridge said that in his interviews and talks with Brosius, the agriculture secretary talked about stewardship of the land and the values he learned from his parents. Ridge said that Brosius said he attributed all his successes to his mother and father.

Further, Ridge said that he and Brosius share the same concepts for what is good for Pennsylvania.

"Secretary Brosius and I have long recognized the importance of agriculture," Ridge said.

Ridge talked about Brosius's history of involvement, concern and service to the agriculture industry and community, but Ridge said he was more impressed with Brosius's reputation in the community.

"The secretary not only has friends in the Legislature," Ridge said, "but he has support from around the state."

Ridge said that when he was interviewing Brosius, he told Brosius what he thought was important for agriculture.

Ridge said he told Brosius he had four goals — to increase the profitability for the producer, restructure the regulatory process, expand exports, and improve the rural job climate.

"Before (Brosius) left (the interview), he pulled out a document that he had prepared with his goals for Pennsylvania and (the agriculture) industry," Ridge said.

"At the top of his list, he had written down that the top best way (to help the state and industry) is to work with farming and the agriculture industry to make it more profitable," Ridge said he knew at that moment that he wanted Brosius to be his agriculture secretary.

Drug Testing To Start At Farm Show

Any tampering with animals to enhance their show value can shake consumer confidence in the quality of livestock products and detracts from the educational and promotional experiences of the show.

Youth livestock projects are designed to teach young people responsibility and good husbandry as they raise their animals — the emphasis should be on producing high quality livestock products.

Junior market animal exhibitors will be encouraged to complete a quality assurance course to learn more about the safety and quality of their products.

"Both exhibitors and their parents will be required to certify that they have read the Show Ring Code of Ethics before submitting their entry," Brosius said.

The most widely publicized drug is "clenbuterol," in the Beta-agonist family of chemicals. Clenbuterol has been shown to increase muscle growth in animals, while at the same time decreasing fat deposition.

It also has properties which are toxic to humans, and is not approved for use in the United States by the Food and Drug Administration (FDA).

Pick Your Own Produce

LINDA WILLIAMS

Bedford Co. Correspondent
NEW PARIS (Bedford Co.) —

They come by the carload, ages infants to octogenarians, for a day's outing of picking strawberries in the country.

They arrive at the 30-acre Cuppett farm located on a hillside which overlooks picturesque Bedford County farmland. Strawberries are ripe and rows of growing plants whet the appetite for more picking as the summer progresses.

A "pick-your-own produce," idea originated with fourth generation Cecil Cuppett when he found his dad, Charles, now deceased, struggling with cabbage worms about 20 years ago.

A research biologist, Cecil offered to help combat the problems of raising produce, found the answers and helped with the planting.

"We still use all the antique farm equipment the farm has used for generations," Cecil says. "We added a sprayer, bush hog, and a few other pieces of modern equipment, but basically we are planting the way it has always been done."

Cuppets' season begins with six acres of strawberries to which 7,000 new plants are added each year. "This hasn't been the best of strawberry seasons," Cecil admits. "Spring was a little too cool, and there was too much rain when June arrived. Hot, humid weather deterred some pickers and the weeds have been a constant battle."

"But, overall we'll come out OK. It could be worse."

Other produce grown on the Cuppett farm includes raspberries, potatoes, cabbage, broccoli, onions, peas, squash, pumpkins, gourds, sweet corn, lima beans, yellow and wax green beans, cucumbers, watermelon, cantaloupe, and this year, a row of peanuts.

"I've found that we have a sand bank here very similar to the ground in Georgia," Cecil says. "The peanuts are an experiment and I'm anxious to see how they do."

The strawberries, peas, beans, cucumbers, sweet corn, and tomatoes are all open to picking by outsiders. Other produce is sold at a small market near the farm. Cecil's wife, Sandy, also oversees a craft shop in conjunction with the produce. This year, the Cupperts added kites to their business.

Living on a hillside, free of power lines, kite flying was a natural for this family which includes three daughters, one in college, and two in elementary school. "So, we added a line of kites to our shop and have had good response," says Cecil.

The Cuppett family farm was first owned by William Washington Cuppett who passed it on to John. He was the father of six sons, three of which got into the huckstering business traveling over the mountain to Johnstown with their produce on a weekly basis.

One of these brothers was Charles, Cecil's father, who started the present business.

"It used to be the freezers and canners who came to pick our produce," says Cecil. "Over the years, this has evolved to become more of a summer outing. Most of our pickers now just want the taste of fresh grown fruits or vegetables. They want to make one pie like mom used to make, or a raspberry cobbler, or strawberry shortcake, or know what corn tastes like if it is picked and cooked an hour or two later."

"Consequently, we now have more pickers but each takes home less."

Marketing is done by newspaper ads in both the local area and surrounding towns such as Cumberland, Somerset, and Johnstown. "Word of mouth is probably our very best advertisement," he says.

One Monday morning, Cecil counted 130 cars in the parking lot, all with two or three pickers. "An average is 100 to 200 people per day," he says.

They are a variety of people like Eileen Senkey of Windber who has baby daughter, Regina, in a baby carrier. Regina, wearing a strawberry print bonnet, sleeps peacefully as mom picks. Two older sisters have their own baskets. "It sounded like a fun thing to do," says Eileen. "And, when we go home, we'll clean them and have a dish of strawberries and ice cream."

Elizabeth Wilkerson of Cincinnati, Ohio, brings her two children to spend several weeks of vacation each year with her parents in New Paris. "We time our vacation around strawberry and raspberry season," she says. "Then, we come back for beans and corn. It's just something we look forward to each year."

On one recent evening, Cecil and Sandy met a group of teenagers picking strawberries for an evening snack. Also on the hillside that evening, were a group of senior citizens aged 78 to 89, all picking happily together. "They picked for hours," Sandy remembers.

A successful produce farm doesn't happen by accident. "You have to know when to put what in the ground and do it on that exact day," Cecil, a research chemist at a nearby hospital, explains. "Fortunately, I have a job where I can take my vacation when I see I'm going to have that kind of a day."

"Other times, I have to start early in the morning before going to the hospital, or work late into the night. I do have to burn the candle at both ends."

Cecil is assisted by Donnie Miller, a neighbor who grew up on a farm and by his elementary school teacher wife. It's his daughter, Kimberly, a first grader, who seems to have the most fifth-generation interest in farming.

Over the past five years, government regulations have not made his job easier. "It's the paper work that can bog you down," Cecil says. "Although I have always kept good records, as any farmer should, which helps to ease the problem." Most of the regulations are aimed at those who work in the fields and, as a chemist, they aren't telling Cecil anything he didn't already know.

The Cuppett farm is located just off Route 96.

Home on the Range

This 'N That For Hungry Appetites

Our files are overflowing with recipes that never get printed because we run out of space, readers send duplicate recipes, the recipes don't reach the office by the print deadline or the recipes don't fit into the specified categories.

Remember, we try to print all the recipes but sometimes, one request receives 25 or more answers — while others receive only one or none.

Some readers have recipes printed often — that's because they seem to have a knack of submitting recipes for which we receive no other answers, and, recipes for the "Home On The Range" section are received on time to print them. Too often, recipes listed in the recipe topics are received after publication date. If you are sending a recipe for one of the recipe topics, it must reach our office at least one week before the date listed as the publication date.

To increase your chances of being published, type or clearly print the recipes with concise instructions. Also, clearly identify if the recipe is answering a request — and which one. Most recipes are easily identifiable, but sometimes, it's difficult to comprehend for which request or recipe topic the recipe is sent.

Also, some readers read old copies of the paper and send answers for requests that have been print months earlier. Make sure, you are answering a current request. Print your name and address on each recipe.

We will try to print your recipes if you follow the guidelines.

These are wonderful recipes and ones that you are sure to enjoy.

HESTON MAIN DISH

4 cups cubed, cooked ham
4 cups hard boiled eggs, diced
4 cups boiled, cubed potatoes
8 tablespoons butter
8 tablespoons flour
1 teaspoon salt
4 cups milk
Shredded cheese
Buttered cracker crumbs
Melt butter, add flour, salt, and milk. Cook until thickened. Add remaining ingredients and bake at 350 degrees for 30 minutes. Sprinkle with cheese and then crumbs.

CHEESY HAM CASSEROLE

10-ounce package French-style green beans
4 tablespoons butter
¼ cup chopped onion
4 tablespoons flour
½ teaspoon salt
1½ cups milk
2 cups chopped, cooked ham
2 hard-boiled eggs, chopped
1 cup shredded cheddar cheese
2 tablespoons chopped pimento
1 tablespoon chopped parsley
½ cup herb-flavored croutons, slightly crushed

Cook beans, drain and reserve ½ cup liquid. In saucepan, melt butter, saute onion, stir in flour and salt until blended. Remove from heat, stir in milk and ½ cup liquid. Boil and stir one minute. Add ham, eggs, cheese, pimento, and parsley.

Place beans in baking dish and cover with ham sauce. Sprinkle crumbs on top. Bake at 350 degrees for 20-25 minutes. Serves 6-8.

CHICKEN PARMESAN

¼ cup butter
½ cup parmesan cheese
½ cup bread crumbs
¼ - ½ teaspoon garlic powder
1 tablespoon paprika
½ teaspoon rosemary
½ teaspoon oregano
½ teaspoon basil
6 chicken halves, boned, skinned

Other chicken pieces may be substituted for chicken breasts — allow 7 minutes per pound for cooking. Melt butter in a 8x12-inch glass pan. Dip both sides of chicken in butter. Combine remaining ingredients on paper plate, roll chicken in mixture. Place chicken in dish with thicker edges toward outside.

Cover loosely with waxed paper. Microwave on high for 12 minutes, rotating dish once.

Or, oven method: Bake at 350 degrees for 35-45 minutes.

Yields 6 servings. Delicious.

EDIBLE COMFORTS CHOCOLATE ELEPHANT

This is expensive, very rich, terribly fat, and it is not good for you. It is also disgustingly delicious — with all the right attributes for the serious chocolate lover.

12 eggs
1 teaspoon vanilla
½ pound butter
3 tablespoons almond liqueur
1 pound German sweet chocolate
4 tablespoons sugar
Whipped cream, optional
Separate eggs. Beat the yolks with vanilla and butter. When thoroughly blended, add the almond liqueur. Melt the chocolate in a double boiler. Allow to cool a bit. Beat the egg whites and sugar until stiff.

Blend the chocolate with the butter and yolk mixture, adding the chocolate to the yolks a little at a time. Finally, gently fold in chocolate into the egg whites. Pour into dessert glasses and chill.

Top with whipped cream when ready to serve.

Will keep covered in the refrigerator for 2 to 3 days, but is best served the first day.

Speed Scratch Cooking With Cheese

One of the hottest food trends of the day is speed-scratch cooking—which means using convenience foods (such as shredded cheese) in creative ways to come up with quick and tasty meals. This leaflet offers seven speed-scratch recipes from the kitchen of Mr. Food, a nationally-syndicated TV chef and personality.

Crunchy Vegetable Stir-Fry Pizza

Know why stir-fry is so popular? Because it's quick and easy. Now try it on a pizza teamed with Muenster and blue cheeses.

1 large (1 pound) Italian bread shell
2 tablespoons butter
1 bag (16 ounces) Oriental-style frozen mixed vegetables, slightly thawed
2 cups (8 ounces) shredded Muenster cheese
¼ cup crumbled blue cheese
¼ teaspoon garlic powder
¼ teaspoon onion powder

Preheat oven to 375°F. On an ungreased 12-inch pizza pan or large baking sheet place bread shell. In a large skillet melt butter. Over medium heat, add vegetables; cook, stirring frequently, until crisp-tender, about 5 minutes. Using a slotted spoon, transfer vegetables from skillet to reserved bread shell, distributing evenly. Sprinkle with Muenster and blue cheeses, and garlic and onion powders. Bake until cheeses are melted and crust is hot, 15 to 20 minutes. Serve with knives and forks. YIELD: 3 to 4 servings.

WATER FOR FUN, SURVIVAL AND HEALTH

Water is high on the list of necessities we cannot live without. We need water for life. It is necessary for plants, animals, and humans to live and grow. But we use water for fun, for cleanliness, and health.

Water for fun: Safety is the most important consideration when water is used for recreation as well as daily use. When children are around water, remember children aren't waterproof.

A few fundamentals of water safety include: No going into the water alone, especially young children. No matter how shallow the water even if it is in a bathtub, a backyard pool, or open water, adults need to supervise.

Adult supervision is important for young children at the beach or in the backyard. It is very easy to roughhouse in water and this can quickly turn into more than just play. You may have to create a calming time out, like a lemonade break.

No matter how accustomed one is to a backyard pool, or how capable your child is around the water, don't let your safety guard down. Have rules and stick to them. You may have to review these rules on a regular basis.

Teach your child to swim. This may be with a learn-to-swim course at the YMCA or at your local community pool. Teach them to always swim with a buddy and not to dive into shallow water. Don't dive without adults to supervise.

Have children wear lifejackets. All non-swimmers and children under age five should wear a Coast Guard-approved-type vest when around any body of water.

Water for Life: No chart will tell how much you need, but we do know that one cannot survive without it. Water is the calorieless compound of hydrogen and oxygen that every cell in our bodies needs to survive. Over all, water makes up about half to two-thirds of the body composition. As adults, we each have 40 to 50 quarts in our bodies. Men's bodies contain more water than women's because they have less fat than women and lean tissue holds more water than fat tissue.

Thirst is generally a good indicator of when you should take in more water. This is regulated by the sodium in your blood. The average adult consumes and gets rid of two and a half to three quarts of water a day.

Often a person will drink enough water to feel that his thirst is satisfied but it may not be enough to replace what is needed by his body.

Did you know that water suppresses the appetite naturally and helps the body use body fat? Studies have shown that a decrease in water intake may cause the fat deposits to increase. It was found that an increase in water intake can actually help reduce the fat deposits.

The reason that is given is that the kidneys can't work properly without enough water. When the kidneys can't do their work like they should, some of this work is given to the liver to do. One main function of the liver is to break down fat for energy use. But if it has to do part of the kidney's job, the liver cannot use as much fat for energy so it has to be stored in the body as fat.

Water and weight loss: The body will not work properly without enough water. It won't be able to use the fat like it should.

Retained water will show up as excess weight. To get rid of excess water, you need to take in more water to help flush out the waste products. (Salt intake may need to be checked as to the amount you take in.) Drinking water is an important tool to help with weight loss.

Water helps make up the liquid cushion that surrounds the body tissues and intestines.

Remember the body uses water for a variety of functions. It aids digestion, absorption, and circulation, transports nutrients, builds tissues, carries away waste and helps maintain body temperature at 98.6 degrees Fahrenheit. Almost all of the body's living cells need and depend on water to function.

Dehydration: Unfortunately, thirst is not always the first sign of dehydration. It is possible to lose up to two quarts of water before we become noticeably thirsty. Often when we feel thirsty and drink fluids, our body fluids are not fully replaced. Most people stop feeling thirsty when they have drunk only about two-thirds of the liquid they have lost. This is of special importance to the elderly whose thirst mechanism may not be as acute as it once was.

All liquids are not created equal in their ability to satisfy our fluid needs. Some beverages such as coffee, tea and alcohol actually increase water output because of their diuretic effect.

Food: All food contains some water. Milk, for an example, is about 87 percent water, vegetables 70 to 90 percent, and meat between 40 to 70 percent.

Cleanliness: Cleaning hands with soap and water helps control germs. Use of soap and water helps keep our living surfaces clean and contributes to good health.

The importance of water in our daily lives cannot be stressed enough. A good rule of thumb for adults is to drink six to eight cups of water daily.

What We Eat In America

JUDY MCBRIDE Everybody's Science

Rockville, Md.—Some 6,000 Americans—from young children to the elderly—are being interviewed at homes across the country as part of the U.S. Department of Agriculture's continuing survey, "What We Eat In America."

Throughout 1995, interviewers are calling on 11,500 households in 62 geographical areas to find those 6,000 individuals who represent the U.S. populations, said nutritionist Alanna Moshfegh, who heads the survey.

Moshfegh said USDA is required by law to monitor the dietary habits of Americans on a continuing basis. This is the second year of the 1994-1996 survey. By the end of 1996, information will have been collected on the eating habits of about 15,000 Americans, she said.

Among its many uses, the survey will compile data to help policy makers:

- predict the demand for agricultural products and help to ensure the availability of foods Americans want to eat;
- monitor changes in food consumption and assess the adequacy of American diets;
- and determine how well

Americans are using and understanding nutrition labels.

Moshfegh said the interviews, each taking about 30 minutes, will ask people about the foods they ate on two different days. A few weeks later, a selected number of these respondents over age 20 will be called to ascertain their knowledge of diet and health.

"We need everyone's cooperation to ensure that we get an accurate picture of what foods Americans are eating and how much, as well as what they know about the relationship of diet to health," she said.

One finding of the last three-year survey, from 1989 through 1991, was that Americans were consuming an average 34 percent of their total calories as fat. That was down from 36 percent in 1987-'88 and 40 percent in 1977-'78—but still shy of the recommended 30 percent fat.

A Rockville, Md., research firm is conducting the survey for USDA. All interviewers carry photo ID badges. No government agencies, including the USDA, will have access to information that identifies respondents. Information will be published only in statistical summaries and tables (Agricultural Research Service, U.S. Department of Agriculture).

Cook's Question Corner

If you are looking for a recipe but can't find it, send your recipe request to Lou Ann Good, Cook's Question Corner, in care of Lancaster Farming, P.O. Box 609, Ephrata, PA 17522. There's no need to send a SASE. If we receive an answer to your question, we will publish it as soon as possible.

Answers to recipe requests should be sent to the same address.

QUESTION — A Somerset reader would like a recipe for rhubarb jelly.

QUESTION — Wilma Epler, Middletown, would like a recipe for canned salsa with chopped fresh tomatoes, onions, garlic, sweet and hot peppers, vinegar, and salt.

QUESTION — Kelly Trumbower, Hartsville, would like a recipe for shoo-fly pie that is wet bottom. She also would like a recipe for Kentucky Derby pie.

QUESTION — Edith Long would like a recipe for blueberry dessert that uses grape Jell-O.

QUESTION — Kathleen Flagg, Sellersville, writes that her aunts from Middletown and Lebanon used to make "Birdie Beans." They'd cook beans until tender and serve buttered. She would like to know what kind of beans were used and where they may be purchased.

QUESTION — Maryann Santini, Alpha, N.J., would like a recipe to make sauerkraut in a five gallon crock and another recipe to make Kosher dill pickles in a 5-gallon crock.

QUESTION — Katie Stoltzfus, Christiana, would like to know how to make Spam, which is available in cans at the store.

QUESTION — Arlene Snyder, Manheim, would like a recipe using banana creme flavoring.

QUESTION — A Berks County reader would like a recipe for granola cereal that tastes like that sold by Dutchway Store in the bulk food department.

QUESTION — Judy P. Looney, New Castle, is looking for a cake recipe with a hot milk dressing served over it. It was one of her favorite foods made by her grandmother.

QUESTION — B.W. Pue, Rocky Ridge, Md., would like directions for making realistic gingerbread people that are used in crafts. Some are puffy and others are thick and flat. How is the dough made and colored and the features painted?

QUESTION — B.W. Pue, Rocky Ridge, Md., would like the recipe and directions for Slow-Ball Dip that appeared in Woman's Day on July 5, 1983, page 98. She recalls that it contained 3 cans chopped clams and cream cheese. It is baked in a round loaf of bread that has been scooped out.

QUESTION — Sarah Clark, Breezewood, would like a candy called Decadent, which she thinks is made in North or South Carolina. She'd also like a bread recipe called Arkansas Travelers Bread, and a cherry pie made with red Kool-Aid.

QUESTION — A Chambersburg lover of Section B would like recipes for "all fruit" jellies without artificial sweeteners and granulated sugar. She'd like details on using a smoker. Do you burn charcoal or wood? How do you keep the fire hot while adding wood? How do you keep ashes off the meat? How can you tell if it's hot enough?

QUESTION — Nancy Price, Jarrettsville, would like a recipe for fruit sauce such as they serve with ham at Horn and Horn Restaurant. She has tried other recipes but none is as good as Horn and Horn's.

QUESTION — Dick Taylor, Allentown, N.J., would like a recipe for hot pepper sauce using lime juice and carrots as opposed to the traditional method of using vinegar and tomatoes. He writes that lime juice enhances the pepper flavor more than vinegar.

QUESTION — Dee Crowder, Gettysburg, is looking for a recipe similar to Rotel or Chi-Chi's Tomato and Green Chilies.

QUESTION — Andy Andrews, Brownstown, would like the recipe for pecan collision, a pecan/chocolate cheesecake served at a Lancaster County smorgasbord.

CREAMED CHICKEN
 1/4 cup chicken fat, skimmed from broth
 Heat in pan and saute the following:

1 onion
 1/2 green pepper
 Stir in:
 1/4 cup flour
 2 cups chicken broth
 1 cup milk
 Salt and pepper
 Cook mixture until thickened.

Add and heat:
 2 cups cooked chicken, chopped
 1 tablespoon parsley

Biscuit Mix:
 8 cups unbleached flour
 1 1/2 cup powdered milk
 5 tablespoons baking powder
 1 tablespoon salt
 1 cup vegetable shortening

Combine ingredients for biscuits. Remove 3 cups mix and stir in 1 cup water. Store the remainder of mix for another time.

Roll out the biscuit dough and cut with biscuit cutter. Bake at 425 degrees for 10 minutes.

PLANTS CONDITIONED FOR DRY SHADE

Farm woodlots often contain large trees, a canopy of smaller trees, a layer of shrubs and a rich forest floor of herbaceous plants. Why does this dry shade work in nature but not in the home garden?

First, the natural forest has had many years to build a layer of rich topsoil and humus from the decomposition of literally tons of leaves, plant parts and other organisms. A healthy forest is a combination of a variety of species that coexist in harmony.

In suburbia, we replant trees and shrubs into remaining subsoil, and select trees that survive in less desirable soils. Highly competitive trees, like norway maple, survive by having a shallow root system that sucks up all the surrounding soil, water, and leaves. These trees shade out competing plants. This condition is called dry shade. Here is a list of plants that survive in dry shade:

Acanthus hungaricus is an architectural plant with long deeply cut leaves with mauve-pink flowers in June.

Arum italicum "Pictum" has broad, spear-shaped leaves marbled with veins of grey that emerge in autumn, persist during the winter and disappear in summer. Stout 18-inch stalks support columns of glossy, orange-red berries that last through the summer.

Carex buechananii has orange-red foliage for the entire year. It grows to a height of 2-3 feet.

Corydalis ochroleuca is a dense, bushy plant that reaches 15 inches. It has evergreen, bluish-green leaves and pale yellow flowers from May until fall, followed by black, glossy seeds.

Crambe maritima is an architectural plant that grows to 2 feet. It has large blue, almost silver leaves that are thick and toothed. Sprays of white flowers bloom in June.

Deutzia gracilis 'Nikko' is a low-growing shrub (15 inches) with upright clusters of single white flowers in spring and wonderful burgundy foliage in fall.

Dryopteris affinis crispa congesta is a delightful fern with tight, dwarf habit, reminding one of a condensed version of a Chamaecyparis shrub.

Epimedium cantabrigiense is an eight inch tall perennial with olive-green foliage and light yellow flowers with reddish margins.

Epimedium grandiflorum "Lilafec" produces long-spurred lavender-violet flowers that rise through purplish new foliage in early spring.

Epimedium youngianum 'Niveum' has small heart-shaped leaflets borne on a 10-inch wiry stem. Pure white flowers open in late April or early May.

Equisetum scirpoides is often used as a bog or water garden plant, but it adapts well in dry shade. Evergreen 8-inch tall thin, jointed stems give it the appearance of bamboo.

Fargesia nitida is a clump-forming bamboo with black stems, purple culms (joints) and soft evergreen foliage with an arching habit that reaches 8 feet.

Geranium 'Biokovo' is a perennial with light pink, almost white flowers and excellent, shiny foliage that turns crimson in the fall.

Helleborus argutifolius is a textural plant growing to 15 inches, with light green, almost grey leaves that are veined and coarsely toothed along the margins.

Helleborus orientalis has blush white-to-plum flowers with crimson and maroon spots. Its evergreen foliage and ability to seed itself make it a wonderful groundcover.

Heuchera 'Chocolate Veil' has large, bold, smooth leaves with patterns of purple and subtle overtones of silver.

Heuchera 'Pewter Veil' is semi-evergreen with striking pewter-silver leaves and embossed black veins.

Kirengeshoma palmata is an elegant plant reaching a height of three feet with large maple-like leaves and nodding stems of bell-shaped yellow flowers appearing in late summer to early fall.

Polygonatum falcatum 'Variegatum' is a choice perennial boasting green leaves with creamy white margins and maroon stems.

Rohdea japonica is a bold perennial with spear-like leaves and greenish-white flowers. It grows to 12 inches and forms axillary clusters at ground level.

Waldsteinia ternata is a 6-inch perennial with dense, dark, evergreen foliage and yellow flowers.

'Country' In The Boy Propates Gardening

LORETTA GOLDEN

Cambria Co. Correspondent

EBENSBURG (Cambria Co.)—"You can take the boy out of the country but you can't take the country out of the boy."

This statement is quite appropriate when speaking of John Drahnak of R.D. Ebensburg, Cambria County.

Drahnak was born and raised on a farm north of Barnesboro and his upbringing has shaped his values concerning his respect for nature. He credits his father and grandfather for creating the interest and providing the inspiration for gardening, which he enjoys so much.

Drahnak is listed as a "Master Gardener" of Cambria County. The Master Gardener program is a volunteer program sponsored by the Penn State cooperative extension. Master Gardeners undergo training in plant science, integrated pest management, pesticide safety, plant propagation, soil science, plant diseases, and insect pests. Drahnak feels that by being involved in this program he is "giving back" to his community.

As a Master Gardener, Drahnak answers questions on crops, lawns, houseplants, and gardens. If requested, he will visit a garden or a landscaping site to offer his advice. He has been a featured speaker at local Garden Clubs, Scout groups, and 4-H groups. Last year he was a moderator at the National Conference for Master Gardeners. This conference, held in Lancaster, was attended by 500 people from across the country.

In one unique situation he has worked with the Cambria County Probation Office. In this case Drahnak had the delinquents from the County Juvenile Detention Home plant flowers around the Cambria County Courthouse and Laurel Crest Manor, the county home for the aged.

After working in area coal mines for 33 years, Drahnak took the position as "Building and Grounds Supervisor" for the Northern Cambria School District in Barnesboro. He is very comfortable in this supervisory position and is able to put his gardening expertise to good use. Drahnak is a certified pesticide applicator who must periodically recertify. The children who attend Northern Cambria are his prime concern, and he is very conscientious about the buildings and grounds which he maintains. Drahnak is quick to point out that no spraying is done at any of the schools until the children have vacated the premises for the summer. The most current methods of cleaning are used inside the buildings with a constant awareness of hypersensitivity. His pesticide certification also allows him to properly care for the district swimming pool.

The students at Northern Cambria Elementary/Middle School have benefitted greatly from Drahnak's current project. A few weeks ago he went into each classroom from kindergarten through grade 5. A total of more than 500 students was involved. Each student received a styrofoam cup filled with a growing medium. After a short lesson on seeds and germination, adjusted appropriately for the different age groups, each student planted two marigold seeds.

The cups were left in the individual classrooms so that the students could water them and watch their progress. Any student who had seeds which did not germinate were to see Drahnak so that they could replant in order to be involved in the next phase of the project.

This next step came on a nice sunny day last week. Drahnak resembled the "Pied Piper" leading one class after another outside to plant the flowers around the school. On the way out, he received puzzled looks from some of the younger children when he asked to see their "green thumbs."

The kindergarten classes did the landscaping around the flagpole. These young children were excited to take the marigolds out of the styrofoam cups, dig a hole with their hands, and plant the flowers. The root systems of their plants seemed to fascinate them. Only a few children didn't want to get their hands dirty, but with a little gentle coaxing from Drahnak, they planted and even seemed to enjoy it. When all of the flowers were planted, Drahnak invited the children to come back and see the progress their flowers make over the summer.

Besides beautifying the school grounds at very minimal cost (more than 1,000 flowers had been planted by the students), John feels that the students get a lot of satisfaction from this project. Many of these children never had a garden and there is a lot of excitement in starting something from seed and watching it grow. John likes to pass this enjoyment down to those who are not as fortunate as he was growing up on a farm.

This easy-going man really seems to have a "flair" for working with children. While they were outdoors planting, never once did he tell a child to plant in a particular spot. When questioned about this he replied that he likes to see the children plant as they see things in nature, not merely set the plants up like soldiers. He feels that this planting will give them pride in their school and their surroundings. Vandalism has not been a problem in the past and Drahnak attributes this to the fact that the students have done some of the work.

At home, Drahnak and his wife Lois, tend to a 9,000 square foot garden in which they grow all of the usual assortment of vegetables, which Lois will then can and freeze. The Drahnaks do not purchase any plants for the garden but start everything from seed in the greenhouse which they have built onto their home.

The Drahnaks are the parents of six children: John, Theresa, Paul, Richard, Kevin, and Mark. Kevin shares his father's passion for gardening and this has helped pave the way for a career in horticulture. He is currently pursuing a master's degree in horticulture at Penn State and hopes to obtain employment with a large nursery.

There are also three grandchildren, Emily, Morgan, and Richard and a fourth "on the way." Two-year-old Richard loves to garden and dig with his "novel." He is not the least bit afraid to dirty his hands and he especially likes to help grandpap water his plants.

In his "spare" time, John enjoys hunting, fishing, bowling, and furniture building. He builds gun-cases, waterbeds, curio cabinets, and "things unusual." This includes items which are difficult to find such as the "left-handed" desk which he built this past winter. Most of his spare time at home though is spent in the garden or his greenhouse.

In his home greenhouse, Drahnak has some things which are considered "exotic." He has a cactus, two banana trees, a grapefruit tree, and orchids. He also has many gardening "gadgets."

Drahnak really enjoys being a part of the Master Gardener program and is proud that he has helped to build interest in it. He has definitely touched the lives of many young people and for him the reward seems to come in the wide-eyed fascination evident on the faces of the children.

For more information on Penn State Master Gardening, contact your local extension office.

Drahnak, explains how to remove plants from their styrofoam cups. The students seem to be amazed at the "root system." Drahnak then invites the students to plant their flowers and "come back when you go to first grade to see how much it has grown."

Ida's Notebook

Ida Risser

On hot afternoons it is a temptation to stay indoors with two fans moving the air. I know that if I go outside I will find lots of work to do. Believe it or not, there are still lots of small strawberries to pick. Even though, I have decided not to make jam this year because some is left from last year.

The sugar peas are over until their second blooming. Then, I'll cook them with small potatoes that I carefully dig with my fingers without disturbing the roots. This year I've planted a long row of red beets and they all grew. My New Zealand spinach gives some all summer long.

Just now the evening air is perfumed with my carnations. There are pink, white and red ones. They had to be staked as they grew so very tall. Even Allen's roses do not have as much fragrance.

The grandchildren have been coming here for a few hours every day while their mother milks 60 cows. Philip has flown to Chicago to attend the American Society of Agricultural Engineers meeting. We hope that he enjoys some time away from the farm and its pressures.

The four year old likes me to tell him stories. So, we sit on the porch on rocking chairs—I've just painted the one dark green. The other is called twig furniture and my parents used it long ago.

But, the 18 month old is something else. He is constantly on the move and he can climb and reach everything. The other day I rushed to save the goldfish bowl from being spilled. And, we live near the road so that is something else to be careful about.

We've had to learn, all over again, how to eat with children. Cut the food, pick up the spills and clean up afterwards. They do keep us busy.

Peterman Captures Crown In Lycoming County

CAROLYN N. MOYER
Bradford Co. Correspondent
MUNCY (Lycoming Co.) —
Yvonne Peterman secured the Lycoming County dairy princess crown as part of a two-day dairy festival held recently at the Lycoming Mall.

Peterman was crowned by 1994
Lycoming County Dairy Princess
Kathryn Jarrett.

The 19-year-old daughter of Kendall and Cheryl Peterman of Muncy, Peterman will enter her sophomore year at Penn State this fall, where she is majoring in agricultural business management.

Selected as alternates were Roberta (Bobbi) Fogleman and Danielle Swisher.

Fogleman is the 17-year-old daughter of the late Ralph and Ellen Fogleman, of Muncy. In the fall, she will be a senior at Muncy High School.

Swisher, of Unityville, Swisher will be a senior at Hughesville
High School in the fall.

Peterman was selected after each contestant had an interview with the judges, presented a prepared presentation and answered an impromptu question.

Posing as a television show host, Peterman informed the audience about the benefits of drinking milk during her presentation.

"Today on healthy cooking, we're going to learn about nature's most nearly perfect food, and that's milk," said Peterman. "You may be wondering why I picked milk to be the topic of today's show. It's because milk is such a nutrient dense formula. It has nine essential vitamins and minerals."

In her presentation, Fogleman, posing as a veterinarian, tried to convince her Holstein, Daisy Lou, that her diet of junk food was wearing her down.

"Your treatment today is for you to begin eating real dairy foods," said Fogleman.

In clearing up some misconceptions about milk, Danielle Swisher noted that there are six major poses with newly crowned Lycoming County Dairy Princess Yvonne Peterman, seated, and alternates Bobbi Fogleman and Danielle Swisher.

breeds of dairy cows.

"No, chocolate milk does not come from brown cows," she joked.

The final stage of the pageant came after each contestant had to answer the question, "If a foreign girl came to visit you, what would you like her to know about your state?"

"I think the first thing I'd do is take her to a travel agency and pick up a lot of pamphlets. Then I'd take her all the local places and of course I'd show her my home surroundings on the farm and I could tell her the facts about Pennsylvania and it's milk production," answered Peterman.

Showing her the area's dairy farms, taking her to see the capitol and Hershey Park, were among the things that Fogleman would like to show to a foreign visitor.

Swisher stated that she would like the visitor to know that Pen-sylvania is one of the leading dairy producing states in America.
She also said she would show them what a dairy farm is like and how different each dairy farm is.

As in many counties, dairy maids make up an important part of the dairy promotion team. Serving as dairy maids in Lycoming County are Randi Fogleman, Mary Ann Cline, Stephanie Ulmer, Sara
Ulmer, Heather Swisher, Melissa
Daly and Julie Groff.

Local radio personality Todd Stewart served as master of ceremonies for the event, while pageant judges included Paul Nichols of the American Dairy
Association, Dee Courter, Clinton
County Dairy Farmer and Carolyn Moyer, Tioga County.

Seven dairy maids will help promote the dairy industry in Lycoming County this

CUTS HEAVY CROPS WITHOUT HEAVY HORSEPOWER

The Model 408 Discbine® disc mower-conditioner cuts down, tangled or wet hay fast — with only a 65-hp tractor. This five-disc machine transports small but works big. Stop in and check out the "408".

SAVE TIME AT THE SILO

Increase your productivity with a Model 40 forage blower. The Whirl-A-Feed® table breaks up clumps and spins crop into the blower at high speed. This means less drag on the fan and more efficient use of your tractor's horsepower. Stop by and learn more about the Model 40.

QUALITY HAY FAST

CUT RAKING TIME IN HALF

Cut your raking time in half with the New Holland Model 252 pivot-tongue rake hitch. Hitch up two rakes with the "252" and you can rake two swaths into two windrows — or two windrows into one giant windrow. Tractor remote hydraulics do the work so you transport or adjust the rakes without leaving your tractor seat. Get quality hay in half the time with the New Holland "252" rake hitch. Stop in and we'll show you what it can do for you.

Former Alternate Assumes York Dairy Princess Role

JOYCE BUPP

York Co. Correspondent

BAIR (York Co.) — Angela Mummert has been crowned as the 1995-96 York County Dairy Princess. Her selection was announced during the county's pageant coronation ceremonies, held June 17 at the York 4-H Center.

Angela, 17, is the daughter of Diane and Dennis Mummert, Glen Rock R2. She is a senior at Dallastown Area High School, where she is a member of the band front color guard and the yearbook staff. Her future plans include college, possibly pursuing a degree in elementary education.

Last year, Angela served as York County's alternate dairy princess. She is employed at Bupplynn Farms, Seven Valleys, assisting with milking chores evenings and weekends.

For her skit, Angela wrote and illustrated an original children's story, "Bessie Moo Goes to the Beach."

When questioned how she would respond to an accusation that milk is not good for people, Angela answered that she would offer to supply materials and information that show the positive health and nutritional benefits of dairy foods.

"I hope to be able to visit a lot of elementary school classrooms during the year with the message that 'milk does a body good,' share my story with the children and take them ice cream, because everyone likes that," says Angela of her promotion focus as dairy princess.

year will be York County's three Dairy Maids and a Dairy Miss. Dairy Maids are Heather Crowl, Sara Jo Greek and Tanya Thoman. Tracy Richardson was named the Dairy Miss.

Heather Crowl, 13, is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Ellis Crowl, Airville. She is an eighth-grade student at Red Lion Junior High School. For her promotional presentation, Heather created a dairy nutrition poster.

Sara Jo Greek is 13 and the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. David Greek, Delta. Sara's promotional poster for her presentation focused on the using "real" dairy foods. She is an eighth-grade student at Red Lion Junior High School.

Tanya Thoman, 15, is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Gary Thoman, Dallastown. A sophomore at Dallastown Area High School, Tanya titled her dairy promotion poster and presentation "The White Stuff is the Right Stuff."

Dairy Miss is Tracy Richardson, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Charles Richardson, Fawn Grove. Tracy memorized an original poem, "Down On The Farm," for her program presentation.

Co-ordinator for the York County Dairy Princess and Promotional program is Shannon Peterman Gardner, Red Lion. To schedule dairy princess appearances and promotional activities, she may be contacted at (717) 246-1850.

Becky Dugan Represents SUN Area's Four Counties

WATSONTOWN (Northumberland Co.)—Rebecca (Becky) Dugan of Northumberland County is the new SUN Area Dairy Princess.

SUN Area includes Snyder, Union, Northumberland and Mountour counties.

Becky is the daughter of George and Barbara Dugan of Watsonstown. She received her crown from Shannon Hoffman, Mt. Pleasant Mills. The alternate dairy princess is Eve Smith, daughter of Ricky and Dawn Smith, Middleburg, Snyder County.

The Boscov Store with the help of the SUN Area Dairy Promotion Committee in the Susquehanna Valley Mall, sponsored the Dairy Days.

The pageant was held Saturday evening June 24, at the Susquehanna Valley Mall, Selinsgrove, at 7:00 p.m.

Dairy Days began June 22, with displays from FFA groups, 4-H groups and ag-related industries. The promotion committee had tee shirts for sale. Shannon Hoffman, 1994 Dairy Princess had a display of her activities for the year and displayed her state award-winning scrapbook. North-Mont 4-H Club made and sold milkshakes. Entertainment for the evening was by the gospel band True Heart of Milton.

Friday evening, June 23, the highlight of the evening was the building of the seven-foot giant ice cream sundae. Turkey Hill Dairies of Conestoga, donated 138 gallons of premium vanilla ice cream, 10 gallons of chocolate fudge sauce, 5 gallons strawberries, and 25 pounds of toasted pecans. The SUN Area Dairy Promotion Committee built the sundae and the dairy contestants and maids dipped ice cream sundaes, while the dairy misses served. The event began at 6:00 p.m. More than 2,000 ice cream sundaes were served to the public.

Saturday, June 24, was a busy day, beginning with cattle and calves coming to the outside tent for the petting zoo. The Snyder County Holstein Club had a dairy bean bag toss game for everyone to try, and different kinds of cheese for cheese tasting.

At 7:00 p.m., the pageant was held on the mall stage at the Boscov Store. Michael Daniels from Wiggle Radio, served as the master of ceremonies. Karen Auker, Drums, provided the music for the evening, and Jane Hawn, public relations director narrated the fashion show. The reigning princess, contestants, dairy maids, and dairy misses modeled clothing furnished by the Boscov Store. FFA members from Danville, Selinsgrove, Mifflinburg, and Middleburg served as escorts for the girls.

Two Dairy of Distinction winners were presented by Phil Durst, Penn State Cooperative ag agent. They were Luke and Marylou Rebuck of Dornsife and Leire and Catherine Fry of Fry Acres, Middleburg.

Amy Paul Reigns In Somerset County

GAY BROWNLEE

Somerset Co. Correspondent
SOMERSET (Somerset Co.) — Amy Paul was selected the Somerset County Dairy Princess on June 17. She is the daughter of Leon and Dorothy Jane Paul, Garrett, RD 1, and a junior in the Berlin-Brothersvalley High School. She succeeds Natalie Welch of Berlin, officially on July 1.

Four girls entered the pageant, three of them coming from the same school and class. Lauren Lynch, the first alternate and Miss Congeniality, attends the Somerset Area High School and will be a senior. Her parents are Gary and Nancy Lynch, Friedens.

Jodi Flick is the daughter of John and Sandy Flick of Berlin. Jessica Martin is the daughter of Paul and Donna Martin, Berlin. With Miss Paul they will enter their junior year of high school at the end of summer.

For her skit, Amy was a caterer giving a client an ear full of advice over the telephone. Whoever negotiates with this caterer must allow only "real" dairy products in the recipes to be served...or simply find another caterer.

And she communicated the knowledge that superb dairy products aren't just delicious, they are nutritious, too. If taken in adequate portions, bone deterioration can easily be averted, the caller learned — "All because of a loving farmer and a gentle cow," said the nonsense caterer.

"And have a 'dairy' nice day," she told the client, replacing the receiver.

The four girls were asked two questions during their on-stage interview with master of ceremonies, Bob Brown, Somerset County extension agent. The most difficult one was what would they do to help the situation of dairy farmers being underpaid, if selected the winner.

All of them mentioned the importance of communication to the public in their answer, although while one contestant was on stage, the others were secluded in a soundproof place.

Dairy Maids were introduced and assisted with passing out door prizes during the evening. They were Missy Powell, Jill Brant, Michelle Shaffer and Gretchen Fox. Alternate dairy princess, Kelly Jo Bittner announced the door prize winners.

Participants in the Little Miss Pageant were Janna Kaufman, Amy Miller, Leah Speigle, Kelly Reiman, Shannon McWilliams, Jill McWilliams, Emily Carver and Rebecca Foreman. Escorting them were Bradley Glessner and

Joseph Speigle.

The three judges were Margaret Smith, Blair County. She lives on a Holstein dairy farm and serves on the Blair Co. dairy promotion committee.

Kathy Shriner, Moundsville,

W.Va., is the executive director of the Marshall County Chamber of Commerce. A former Somerset County resident, she grew up on a dairy farm.

Kristen Russell, Huntingdon County, owns Russell Dairy

Services.

Members of the dairy princess committee are Angie Shober, Vicki Stahl, Brenda Slingluff, Tomalee Will, Natalie Welch, Kelly Bittner, Melissa Fox, Susan Pryal, Stephanie Singo and Duana Sheeler.

Theresa Inhof Crowns Sister As Successor

COVENTRYVILLE (Chester Co.)—The 1995 Chester County Dairy Princess Coronation was held on Friday evening, June 23, in the social hall of the Coventryville United Methodist Church.

Karen Inhof, Spring City, was crowned by her sister, Theresa Inhof, 1993 Chester County Dairy Princess. Also receiving recognition were four dairy maids, Bambi Champlin, Pottstown; Crystal Kolb, Spring City; Erica Lloyd, Pottstown, and Julie Sollenberger, Spring City.

Karen is the 16-year-old daughter of Andrew and Linda Inhof, Bertolet School Road, Spring City, and will begin her senior year this fall at Owen J. Roberts High School. She has served as a Chester County Dairy Maid for the past two years. In addition, Karen's active schedule includes participating in FFA and SADD.

Helping with the family's 175-acre farm of wheat, hay, soybeans, and of course, Holstein cows, keeps Karen busy most of the time. When there is a break for outside interests, you can find Karen in some sports activity any time of the year—hunting, fishing, snowmobiling, volleyball, softball, bike riding, swimming, basketball and sledding. Following graduation in 1996, Karen plans to major in landscape construction at Delaware Valley College in Doylestown.

Bambi is the 17-year-old daughter of Louann Flowers of Pottstown, and just finished an active year in eleventh grade at Owen J. Roberts High School where she serves on the Student Council and participates in FFA and SADD. Bambi loves working with cows on the Inhof farm and looks forward to the opportunity to promote dairy products in the county.

Erica, is the 13 year old daughter of Ron and Cindy Lloyd, Pottstown, where they help manage the Morris Farm. Erica, who owns and shows both Jersey and Holstein cattle, belongs to Tri-Community 4-H Club, Pattio's Twirling Corps, Penn State 4-H

4-H Camp

4-H Camp blazed a trail to the O.K. Corral this summer. Overnight Camp was held at Camp Eder near Fairfield, from June 12 through June 15, with 77 Adams County 4-H members and 22 4-H members from Franklin County attending.

4-H members attended workshops such as recreation, comparative judging, nature/wildlife, puppetry, and crafts. Tuesday night campers got the chance to put on their boots and learn country line dances. Wednesday brought cheer and laughter with a special puppet show involving each camper. Thursday morning provided campers with the opportunity to choose an intensive workshop where they could bake bread, learn about horses, study stream quality, make reed baskets or test their accuracy with shooting sports. 4-H Camp ended with a special campfire program where each group performed skits and commercials, presented costumes, banners and gifts and joined for a candlelighting ceremony.

Overnight 4-H camp was conducted by county extension staff and volunteers. 4-H teens served as group counselors and workshop counselors. Special thanks go out to these 12 counselors and two adults from Adams County: Darryl Gebhart, Cashtown; Kelly Rockafellow, Littlestown; Matt Brown, Cashtown; Andrea Bodenberg, Gettysburg; Matt Linebaugh, New Oxford; Jess Dayhoff, Gettysburg; Denise Green, Gettysburg; Matt Helm, Biglerville; Mitchell Brannen, Cashtown; Brad Black, Aspers; Vicki O'Shea, Cashtown; Heidi Miller, New Oxford; Nichole Bodenberg, Gettysburg; Kim Funt, Arendtsville; Sadie Bucher, New Oxford; Sharon Baker, Littlestown and Dan Hoffman, Gettysburg.

York County 4-H Beef Club

The York County 4-H Beef Club held its monthly meeting June 5 at Bair Station.

The York County 4-H Fair will be held at the 4-H Center in Bair Station July 16 thru July 22. The beef club will have its Beef Show for the first time at the new exhibition center behind the 4-H Center on July 22 starting at 7 a.m.

Discussion was held on obtaining bark chips for the show and if any of the other livestock clubs would participate. President Jason Bair and Jay Rishel will be looking into options, and will be presented at the next meeting.

The next meeting will be a Meeting/Picnic held at the 4-H Center at 6 p.m. on Monday, July 10. Each family is to bring a dish to pass and their own place settings. Club will provide meat, rolls, and condiments. If your last name begins with any letter A-M, bring a dessert; R-Y bring a hot dish or a salad.

Remember to bring your notebook, project book, and pencil to this meeting.

Upcoming events are York County 4-H livestock judging contest on July 6 at the 4-H Center Livestock Exhibition Building and State 4-H Days from July 25 - 27 at Penn State main campus.

New members are always welcome. If you are interested or want more information, please call Lois Rankin at the York County Penn State Cooperative Extension, (717) 840-7408.

4-H Archery Camp Set
Warren County 4-H will be organizing a three-day Archery "Mini-Camp" this summer for youth ages 10 - 18.

The mini-camp will be staged on July 11-13 from 8 a.m.-noon each day. The instructor will be Sam Marek, Junior 4-H leader.

The purpose of the camp is to develop the skills of beginning archers and to strengthen the shooting skills of youth who are currently involved in archery.

According to Sanford Smith, Warren County, extension agent, "The camp is intended to be a continuation of the basic skills development that many youth begin at 4-H camp or at a day camp." The camp will be staged at the Warren Archery Club's facilities outside of Warren.

Equipment is not provided. Youth are expected to have and use their own equipment. However, Warren County 4-H is currently seeking donations of used or new youth bows (15-20 pounds), either recurve or compound, to be used for instruction at this and other 4-H day camps.

Willis Fair 4-H Show
May 20 at the Howard County Fairground turned out to be a perfect show day for everyone.

The Milking Shorthorns were the top of the line. There were seven exhibitors and 14 head of cattle.

Intermediate heifer calf was won by Heather Hines, senior heifer calf was won by Adam Harvey, junior yearling heifer was won by Sherry Albaugh, and second place went to Heather Hines. Third went to Kellie Burrier.

Intermediate yearling was won by Sherry Albaugh. Junior champion Milking Shorthorn was won by Heather Hines with Honey Creek Princess Ida. Reserve champion Milking Shorthorn was won by Sherry Albaugh with R.A.C.B. Sandy's Rosemary.

Junior 2-year-old was won by Heather Hines. Second was Adam Harvey, and third, Jenny Miller. Senior 2-year-old was won by Shanna Smith. Dry cow was won by Adam Harvey. Senior champion Milking Shorthorn was Shanna Smith with R.A.C.B. Promist B.T. Promise. Reserve champion was Adam Harvey with Horizon K.E. Kat Ex. Grand champion was Shanna Smith and reserve grand champion was Adam Harvey.

Exhibitors were Sherry Albaugh, Joshua Bentz, Kelly Burrier, Adam Harvey, Heather Hines, Shanna Smith, and Jenny Miller.

Dairy Judging Team, OJR Orchestra and OJR Band. Erica enjoys meeting new people and making new friends.

Crystal, the daughter of LeRoy and Sally Kolb of Spring City, comes from a long line of dairy farmers. This outgoing 13-year-old loves a challenge and looks forward to new learning experiences. When not involved with her own cows or the dairy industry, you might find Crystal out practicing with the Owen J. Roberts track team!

Julie is the 13-year-old daughter of David and Holly Sollenberger of Spring City, and owns her own dairy cows. Her active seventh grade year at Owen J. Roberts included 4-H, Guernsey Quiz Bowl Team, band, Student Council, "Just Say No!", and being teen leader in her youth group. During her aunt's reign as Chester County Dairy Princess, Julie really enjoyed helping to promote dairy products around the county.

During the coronation, Karen presented an informative speech on osteoporosis to the audience of family and well wishers. In the coming year, she will attend a training seminar and the Pennsylvania Dairy Princess Pageant in September. Duties will include visits to schools, store promotions, civic groups, and farm meetings.

Spain Students Need Host Families

LANCASTER (Lancaster Co.) — High school students from Spain are urgently looking for host families so that they may spend the academic school year in the U.S. These students will be arriving in August and include Josef, 16 years old, who likes sports, music and meeting new people. He'll be in 11th grade and likes physics, chemistry and biology. Roberto is 17 years old, will be in 12th grade and is eager to learn more about American culture and language. He likes physics and literature. Ignacio enjoys camping, playing drums. He will be in 12th grade and has already studied tourism and hotel management.

Irene will be 15 in November, in the 10th grade, likes sports, travel, and talking with friends. She has excellent English skills. Ana Maria is 16, enjoys sports and travel. She will be in 11th grade and likes English and geography.

Several students are still looking for host families for summer visits from 4-12 weeks. Lucia is 15, from Madrid and likes animals, music, dancing and travel. She will come for 6 weeks. Isabel is 17 and would like to be placed with a family where she could practice piano. She is coming for 12 weeks in July, August, and September.

If you are interested in hosting for the school year or for a few weeks this summer, please contact

Bendall International local representative, Mrs. Carroll Feldman at (717) 291-1473, or Bendall International (216) 238-3711.

FFA HAPPENINGS

Amy A. Phillips
Named Outstanding
Ag Student

Amy A. Phillips, daughter of David L. and Robin Phillips, Mohrsville, Pa., was recently named winner of the 1995 DEKALB Agricultural Accomplishment Award. The award, sponsored nationwide by DEKALB Genetics Corporation, is presented to the outstanding senior agricultural student demonstrating superior scholarship, leadership, in a supervised agricultural program. A long time supporter of youth activities, DEKALB has presented Ag Accomplishment awards since 1947. Based in DeKalb, Illinois, DEKALB Genetics Corporation is an international researcher, producer and marketer of corn, sorghum, soybeans, alfalfa, and sunflower seed.

Amy graduated in June from Tulpehocken High School, Bernville, where she served as 1995 President of the Tulpehocken FFA Chapter. Her agricultural program consists of her registered Jersey cows and heifers and her performance Quarter Horse mare. Following graduation, Amy plans to attend McNeese State University, Lake Charles, Louisiana, and major in nursing along with some ag studies. She was also awarded a scholarship from the university to participate and compete on their intercollegiate Rodeo Team.

As this year's DEKALB winner, Amy received a pin and certificate, and her name will be inscribed on a special plaque displayed in the school's main lobby. The DEKALB Award, often considered the highest honor a vo-ag student can receive on the local level, is presented at nearly 3,000 schools annually.

Amy, listed in the 1995 edition of "Who's Who In American High School Students," was also awarded at her graduation, the S.P. Wilhelm Nursing Scholarship, The Tulpehocken Young Farmers Scholarship, The Berks County Farm Women Group #8 Award, and the Bernville Grange #1887 Award.

She resides with her parents on their dairy farm and boarding stables where she is employed fulltime milking the 50 head of registered Jersey cows.

Also a member of the Central Pennsylvania Youth Rodeo Association, and a current leader in the 14-18 year old age group, Amy competes monthly across Pennsylvania in barrel racing, pole bending, goat tying, and breakaway roping with her Quarter Horse, Candy's Copper Penny. In her efforts as a 4-H Ambassador for Berks County 4-H, Amy has concentrated on promoting good horsemanship, the safety and good animal husbandry practiced at rodeos, and the good fellowship in competing with other youth.

Food Festival Features Lancaster County Specialties

EPHRATA (Lancaster Co.) — From shoofly pie to chicken pot pie, Pennsylvania Dutch food-lovers were able to celebrate some of the best foods from leading area food producers, all under one roof at the Lancaster County Food, Farm & Fun Fest on Friday, June 23, noon to 6 p.m. and Saturday, June 24, 10 a.m. to 5 p.m. at Doneckers Expo Center, 100 N. State St., Ephrata.

Samples of Lancaster County foods included shoofly pie, chicken pot pie, chow chow, bologna, and more.

On Saturday, the Pennfield Farms Pennsylvania Dutch Chicken Recipe Cook-Off brought together the best amateur chicken chefs to pick the 1995 winner.

Other highlights included whoopie pie making demonstrations by the Amish by the Mennonite Information Center, the Lancaster County Dairy Princess, along with 8-10-year-old Dairy Darlings, cooking demonstrations and cookbook signings by Betty Groff of Groff's Farm Restaurant, an outdoor tent sponsored by the Lancaster Chamber of Commerce, a teriyaki vegetable stir-fry demonstration by Four Seasons Produce, a petting zoo of baby chicks, sheep, and other farm animals for the children, and a Tractor and Farm Equipment Promenade.

Among the exhibitors were Lancaster Pork Producers, Kellogg's, Spring Glen Fresh Foods, Achenbach's Pastry, Good Food, Inc., Moody Creations Salad Dressings, Miller's Smorgasbord & Bakery, Ephrata Diamond Spring Water Co., Herr Foods, Eberly Poultry, Turkey Hill Dairy, Pennsylvania Beef Council, Mennonite Information Center, American Express, Pennfield Farms, Seltzer's Lebanon Bologna Co., WROZ-FM, and Groff's Snack Foods.

The winner of the Pennfield Farms Pennsylvania Dutch Chicken Cook-Off was Debbie Yandric of Middletown who, ironically, almost didn't get her dish to the judges on time. Her winning recipe is Succulent Sunday Best Chicken Breasts with Potato Filling and Gravy.

• Second place was Tammy Frey of Ephrata for Pennsylvania Dutch Corn Pie.

• Third place was Joyce Echterling of Lancaster for her Chicken Corn Soup.

• Fourth place was Jean Shober of Reinholds for Chicken Breast Nest Supreme.

• Fifth place was Erma Landis of Lititz for Chicken Corn Corn.

SUCCULENT SUNDAY BEST CHICKEN BREASTS WITH POTATO FILLING AND GRAVY

First Place Winner

These breasts are crisp and golden on the outside. With this "inside-outside" basting method, they're very moist and flavorful and the potato filling prep time is cut by using frozen real mashed potatoes. You'll never taste the difference!

CHICKEN BREASTS

- 4 whole Pennfield Farms chicken breasts (with skin attached)
- 4 tablespoons butter
- ¼ teaspoon onion powder
- Dash of garlic powder
- ¼ teaspoon Mrs. Dash Original Blend salt-free seasoning
- 2 teaspoons low-salt chicken broth
- 4 tablespoons butter, melted
- Generous dash of garlic powder
- Chopped fresh chives (enough to sprinkle on finished chicken)

POTATO FILLING

- 4 cups soft bread cubes
- 1 tablespoon chopped fresh parsley leaves
- ¼ cup each finely-chopped onion and celery
- 4 tablespoons butter divided usage
- 1 cup low-salt chicken broth
- 2½ cups frozen real mashed potatoes
- ¼ teaspoon poultry seasoning and Mrs. Dash seasoning
- 1 beaten egg

GRAVY

- 6 tablespoons drippings (or enough drippings and chicken broth to equal 6 tablespoons)
- Dash of salt and pepper to taste
- ¼ cup each milk and water
- 2 teaspoons cornstarch mixed with 2 teaspoons water till blended

Rinse the chicken breasts and pat dry. Carefully separate skin from flesh of each breast, leaving one side attached. In a small bowl chop up the 4 tablespoons butter. Using a fork, mix in the onion powder, garlic powder, Mrs. Dash seasoning and chicken broth. Place an equal amount of this mixture between skin and flesh of each breast. Press gently to distribute the pieces of butter over as much of the breast as possible. Tuck skin edges under breasts. If time permits, refrigerate chicken at least 30 minutes to allow the seasonings to flavor the meat. Meanwhile prepare potato filling.

POTATO FILLING

Place bread cubes in large bowl. Mix in the parsley. In large skillet melt 2 tablespoons butter over medium-low heat. Add celery and onions and saute 3 minutes. Stir in the 1-cup broth. Stir in mashed potatoes, then the poultry seasoning and Mrs. Dash seasoning. Cook 5 minutes stirring often. Stir in the remaining 2 tablespoons butter until melted, and potato mixture smoothly blended. Gradually mix into bread cubes alternating with beaten egg. Blend well. Place filling in a 9-inch pyrex pie dish.

When ready to prepare the meal, preheat oven to 425 degrees. Place chicken breasts, skin side up, in shallow baking pan. Combine the 4 tablespoons melted butter and the generous dash of garlic powder. Brush over breasts. Place pan in oven. Bake 10 minutes. Lower heat to 350 degrees. Drizzle any remaining melted butter over chicken in pan. Continue baking 55 minutes basting "inside and outside" of chicken with drippings in baking pan. To baste "inside" fill a baster with drippings. Place tip of baster between skin and flesh and release "squirts" of drippings. (This keeps chicken moist and juicy.) (Baste inside and outside occasionally.)

Forty minutes before chicken will be finished, drizzle 1 tablespoon drippings over potato filling. Place filling in oven and bake 40 minutes.

About 5 minutes before chicken and filling will be ready, make gravy by removing 6 tablespoons drippings from baking pan and place in medium saucepan. Season with salt and pepper. Stir in milk and water. Cook over medium heat. Using a wire whisk, whisk in the cornstarch paste until blended. Whisk constantly until thickened.

To serve: Divide potato filling into 4 portions. Place 1 portion on each of 4 dinner plates. Top with gravy. Place 1 chicken breast on top of each filling mound. Drizzle just a little gravy on chicken.

Sprinkle with chopped chives. Garnish plate with sprig of parsley and any other garnish desired. Serve remaining gravy in pitcher. Makes 4 servings.

Dog Owners Liable For Dog Attacks

WASHINGTON, D.C. — Here's a switch. Instead of dog bites man, it's man bites dog. Pet owners, did you know that if your dog attacks a letter carrier, you can be held liable for all medical expenses and other costs that can run into the thousands of dollars?

Don't think your fence is your best insurance policy — especially if a letter carrier or delivery person must enter your yard. The Postal Service is not anti-dog, but pro-responsibility. Responsible pet ownership includes making sure your pet is properly restrained. Dog bites can be hard on the wallet. Last year, nationally nearly 2,800 letter carriers were attacked while delivering the mail. Help our carriers feel safe while delivering your mail this summer. This message is a public service of your local post office.

Lancaster Society 8

Lancaster Society of Farm Women No. 8 met on June 14 at Grace Heilbron's farm in Marietta. Helen Wivell gave devotions and hostesses were Martha Drager, Gladys Ney, Vera Frey, and Grace Heilbron. Virginia Ranck, who owns Verdant View Farm, a Bed and Breakfast Inn at Paradise, gave a talk on operating this type of business. Sylvia Kuch read a humorous poem and the members were honored with a visit from Amy Esbenshade, Lancaster Dairy Princess.

On July 12, the group will meet at 12 Noon at the Amos Herr House at 1756 Nissley Rd. Landisville for a luncheon and a tour of the home.

Lancaster Society 14

On April 6 Lancaster Farm Women No. 14 met at the home of Helen Hershey. The program consisted of Dawn Groff telling about "The Life Of Amy Carmichael" and Anna Marie Groff played the organ. Millie Herr, Mary Louise Landis, and Ruth Longenecker were hostesses.

On May 10, 18 ladies met at Strasburg Mennonite Church for a Mystery Car-a-Rama. First they went to the home of Rhoda Landis in Strasburg and were served a delicious ham dinner. Hostesses were Rhoda Landis, Anna Marie Groff and Helen Herr. Next they went to Patrick McEvoy Gift Shop (formerly The Tobacco Shed), the Choo Choo Barn and Amish Country Crafts Store. They continued to the home of Thelma Graybill to see her collection of 3,000 pigs. They were even served "pig cookies." To end the day they went to Coleman's Ice Cream Shop.

On May 23, 10 ladies from the group joined with 868 other Farm Women from PA for the 30th Spring Rally at Dickinson College in Carlisle.

On Wednesday, June 14, 19 ladies had lunch together at Hershey Farm Restaurant. After lunch, most of them enjoyed a game of miniature golf at the Village Greens.

Lancaster Society 18

On May 15, the Farm Women of Society #18 substituted a bus trip to Gettysburg

The June meeting of Farm Women Society #18 was held at Landis Homes with Amy Martin as hostess. In beautiful surroundings, Amy served delicious refreshments before the meeting was called to order. This is always a time of fellowship for the ladies at the once a month meetings.

Devotions were by Julie Wissler after the president, Ruth Landis, called the meeting to order.

Information of several members recovering from illness was a reminder to send a card of cheer.

An auction of donated items brought delight in many useful and unusual purchases as each opened and displayed.

The Society motto "For Happiness" will be served as a combined seating will find us all present to enjoy a night at "Sight and Sound Theater" to see a presentation of "Noah" is August.

A regular meeting is scheduled for August also.

July a vacation month with no meeting. The meeting was dismissed after singing the theme song, "Brighten The Corner Where You Are."

Lebanon Society 20

Lebanon Farm Women No. 20 met on Thursday, June 1, at the home of Doris Worth with Vivian Hess as co-hostess. Following breakfast the hostesses had the devotions. In response to the roll call each responded with the number of children, grandchildren, and great-grandchildren they had.

The Sunshine Committee reported in the past two months there were 11 cards sent, two bouquets and two anniversary gifts given. For the charity members voted for the Edna Schreiber Foundation (formerly Easter Seal Society). A donation was given to a fire victim and $10 to the Agricultural Awareness program.

Members had the Safety program by each of the 20 persons present giving a "safety tip." The meeting closed by singing "Brighten the Corner" to meet in July at the home of Anna Mary Groff with Freda Wimer as a co-hostess.

Lancaster Farm Women Society #24 entertained Society #33 on Tuesday, May 30, at the Conestoga Church of the Brethren, Leola. Millie Eisemann, Ephrata, spoke on the theme "You and I and Yesterday." She took everyone on a journey back to their childhood, reminiscing about things such as sunbonnets and aprons, the importance of the kitchen, the Depression and saving, butchering, the peddlers, and so on. Those in attendance enjoyed the nostalgia. Some members shared their own reminders of the "good ole days." The decorations were antiques and many of the refreshments served were fresh from the garden.

Berks Society 9

Society of Farm Women Group 9, Amityville, met at St. Paul's UCC for a business meeting and craft. The June meeting will be a movie night. The group is participating in the County Convention, and is planning a Family Picnic.

Berks Society 4

The June meeting of Berks County Society of Farm Women Group 4 was held in the Bechtelsville home of Charlotte Mauger.

Nancy Rubendall of the Boyertown Communication Center spoke on how dispatchers carry out their duties and when and what information to give when using 911.

Home economics awards were given to Boyertown students Katie Pront, Senior High, Laura Erlandson, Junior High West, and Jessica Faust, Junior High East.

The meeting on July 11 will be at the home of Nancy Rubendall, Long Lane, Boyertown.

Lebanon Society 20

Lebanon Co. Farm Women Group #20 met at the home of Anna Mary Bollinger. The hostess read devotions followed by the Lord's prayer and salute to the flag.

Members received Farm Women patches that Group #26 sold.

Kristi Schoffstall, granddaughter of Vera Gross, received the Farm Women scholarship. She also was selected as the 1995 Lebanon County Dairy Princess.

The fall convention will be Oct. 11 at the Schaefferstown Fire Hall. Cost is $10.

Members will be serving refreshments at the 4-H dairy show at the Lebanon Fairgrounds on Tuesday, July 18.

The next meeting will be a picnic at the home of Vera Gross.

Consuming Thoughts

by
Fay Strickler

Penn State Extension Home
Economist For Berks Co.

Most people have heard about the adverse health effects of a high fat diet. Many have responded by trying to eat as little fat as possible. But nutritionists counsel that while for most Americans reducing fat intake is a good idea — doing so is healthy only up to a point.

People who go on diets as devoid of fat as possible run into a whole range of health problems including lack of energy, skin deficiencies, skin rashes, and worse, according to Scoot Murdoch, a nutritionist at Cornell University. Fats are an essential part of every living cell in the body. So it's important to eat some fats, especially those that contain linoleic and alpha-linolenic acids — two fatty acids the human body cannot produce itself.

Another problem with diets extremely low in fat is that they don't leave a person satisfied after eating. The person is likely to go off the diet completely and go back to eating high-fat foods.

How much fat is enough? How much is too much? The US Department of Agriculture guidelines recommend that no more than 30 percent of the calories we take in each day come from fat and of that no more than 10 percent should come from saturated fats. This is still an excessive amount of fat for most of our population. Twenty to 25 percent is probably closer to what we should be striving for. However, slipping below 20 is questionable from a health standpoint.

For many of us it's difficult to calculate the percentage of calories from fat for all the foods we eat in a given day. It is important to eat in moderation those products that derive more than 20 percent of their calories from fat.

For those of us who typically eat

30 percent of our calories from fat, a diet that consisted of only the following foods would result in a too-radical drop in fat intake: fat-free whole-wheat bread, fat-free salad dressings, fat-free cheese, skim milk, fat-free yogurt, skinless chicken or turkey breast broiled without adding oil, fruit (no puddings, sauces, baked desserts or breakfast products, snack foods, or nuts).

An example of a low-fat diet that is less drastic and still healthful is (this is as low-fat as a diet should be):

BREAKFAST: whole-grain cereal with skim milk, orange juice, bagel with fat-free cream cheese.

LUNCH: boneless chicken breast sandwich (broiled and served on whole-wheat bread with lettuce, tomato and fat-free mayonnaise), salad with fat-free dressing, tangerine, diet soda.

SNACK: fruit, low-fat yogurt, or bagel.

DINNER: pasta with meatless, low-fat spaghetti sauce, broccoli with lemon juice, whole-wheat roll with no spread, glass of grape juice, sherbet.

The answer is not to stop eating fat completely, but to choose low-fat healthful, real foods.

Shippensburg Holds Garden Tour

BETH MILLER

Cumberland Co. Correspondent

SHIPPENSBURG (Cumberland Co.) — Frazier and Sally Phillips have a beautiful garden these days, but they learned early on that, when it comes to plants, things don't always go as you had planned.

The Shippensburg couple found that out when they started their garden, which was one of the centerpieces for the ninth annual Shippensburg Garden Tour.

Sally said the first packet of seeds they bought was labeled the "Monet garden" after the famous French artist. The seeds were from Monet's own garden, and the planting instructions stated in detail where each seed was to be planted.

"We were quite excited — a garden like Monet's," Sally said.

But things didn't work out as planned, she said. Everything grew and eventually became a tangled mess.

"We still have many of the plants, but we had to separate and give away many of those original plants," Sally said.

She and her husband still jokingly refer to that section of their now luxurious garden as the

"Monet Garden."

The garden they displayed on the tour is filled with sculptures that reflect the interest of Sally, who is a retired art teacher.

The couple are avid bird watchers and their garden sports several bird baths, houses and feeders. Their pool is shielded from view by a screen of hemlocks, rhododendrons and azaleas.

Frazier has a keen interest in square foot gardening and has dotted the garden with herbs and vegetables.

Another stop on the tour was at the garden of Dr. Lynn and Janet Adams.

They have established a garden in compliance with directives of the National Wildlife Federation that is attractive to small mammals, birds, bats, butterflies, and bees.

Bird and bat houses are scattered about the garden, which is lush with wildflowers and perennials.

The style of the garden reflects Janet's former career as an environmental specialist at the nearby Kings Gap Environmental Education Center.

She noted that the wildlife garden, which also includes fruit trees to supply food and lily ponds and bird baths for drinking and bathing, is its own little habitat.

Cover for the animals is provided by a brush pile, evergreens and hollow logs, she said. Pests are controlled through natural methods and fertilizing is done organically, Janet said.

"We hope to raise peoples' awareness with our backyard wildlife habitat," Janet said. "We want to show that a wildlife habitat can be anywhere in your yard, front, back, or all of it."

Her efforts have paid off, she said.

"We have all types of birds: warblers, hummingbirds, finch and many more; skunks, green frogs, dozens of butterflies and a Cooper's owl, which is rare to see," Janet said.

Other local gardens on the tour were the oriental garden of Esther Weaver and Robert Farner, which features an array of well-trimmed shrubs and figurines, a fish pond and a waterfall, and Wayne and Karen Beaver's landscaped garden where the perennials and shrubs are arranged in a way that frames and highlights the house.

Norman and Norma Bricker's traditional garden includes pom-poms and sculpted shrubbery, and vegetables, perennials and annuals to form the border for the yard.

Tom and Kay Cypher's garden provides privacy as well as beauty. Arborvitae and pine screen the back yard and a pond surrounded by hostas and spring flowers enhances one corner.

The foundation of an old mill, a stream and a wooded area are key elements in the garden of John and Jennifer Taggart, which the couple is still developing.

So far, they have planted in the mill foundation, created a woodland garden and planted perennials, native ferns, meidiland roses and rhododendron.

"You Ask—You Answer" is for non-cooking questions. When a reader sends in a question, it will be printed in the paper. Readers who know the answer are asked to respond by mailing the answer, which will then be printed in the paper.

Questions and Answers to this column should be addressed to You Ask—You Answer, Lancaster Farming, P.O. Box 609, Ephrata, PA 17522. Attention: Lou Ann Good.

There's no need to send a SASE. If we receive an answer to your question, we will publish it as soon as possible.

QUESTION — Jeff Connors, Perryville, Md., would like to know where a good FFA school is in Lancaster Co. or a good, clean Christian family farm, or a Virginia-style dairy barn.

QUESTION — Jeff Connors, Perryville, Md., would like to know where he can purchase a toy Farmall 560 1958 NFAN 1456?

QUESTION — L. Zimmerman, Stevens, would like to know where to get coal grates for a Frank's FWC 140 wood and coal furnace?

QUESTION — Harold Stoudt, Hamburg, would like to know where to buy a continuous timer that can be set to turn a fan on and off at preset intervals of 20-30 minutes.

QUESTION — Mrs. Joseph Boll, Harleysville, would like to know where to purchase mendettes, a small disc with a screw that fits a small hole in pans and holds the other side on.

QUESTION — Eva Eby, Manheim, would like to know how to get climatis vines to bloom.

QUESTION — Lois Burkholder, Washington Boro, wanted to know why her iris does not bloom.

QUESTION — Margaret Diamond, Kunkletown, would appreciate information on hair embroidery, instructions on the craft, items owned with a history, or items for sale. Send it to 80 Evergreen Lake, Kunkletown, PA 18058-9329.

QUESTION — Joan Francisco, Stroudsburg, would like to know where to purchase oil of cassia, used in Italian cooking.

QUESTION — Norma Jean Yankey, Mt. Solon, Va., has a Burpee pressure canner Model #AR 1525. The screw in the control valve is weak and the pressure will not register properly. Does anyone know where she can find another control valve. The canner is approximately 40 years old.

QUESTION — Jenny Palovitch of Lancaster County would like to purchase a wrought iron bench that wraps around a tree. It may be new or used.

QUESTION — A Lehighon reader would like to know the market price for goose and duck eggs.

ANSWER — Patricia Varchol, Reinholds, writes that she started plants from seed for her large garden. The seeds had a great germination rate, but then died to damping off. She requested tips to try next year to keep this from happening. Thanks to Mart and Ferne Miller of Miller's Greenhouses, Landisville, for these tips:

- At the time of seeding, water with a general purpose fungicide.

- As soon as the plants show through the soil, allow soil to dry out even to the point that the seedlings start to wilt before watering again.

- Do not saturate the soil when watering. Thanks to Harold Stoudt, Hamburg, who wrote that he had the same problem. His county horticulturist said the seedlings needed air circulation and suggested a small fan.

Cook's Question

ANSWER—Arlene Snyder, Manheim, wanted a recipe for Horehound candy made with horehound flavoring. Thanks to Stan Kitchen, Dallas, for sending a recipe.

Horehound Candy

- 1½ teaspoons pressed horehound
- 1½ cups boiling water
- ½ cup white corn syrup
- 2 cups sugar
- ½ teaspoon salt

Pour water over horehound. Allow to stand 10 minutes.
Strain. Combine sugar, salt, syrup, and water from hore-hound. Boil to soft crack stage (275-280 degrees). Pour in thin sheet onto well-buttered baking sheet. Mark into squares before candy hardens.

ANSWER—A reader requested a recipe for chess pie and the origin of its name. Thanks to Denise Angstadt, Oley, for writing that it is said that a Southerner was the first person to combine eggs, flour, milk, and brown sugar into pie filling.
When asked its name, she replied with modesty, "Jes' pie."

Chess Pie

- ¼ cup butter, softened
- 1 cup brown sugar
- ½ cup granulated sugar
- ¼ teaspoon salt
- 3 eggs
- ½ cup whipping cream
- 2 tablespoons all-purpose flour
- 1 teaspoon vanilla
- 9-inch pie shell, unbaked
- Whipped cream, optional

In large mixing bowl, beat together butter, sugars, and salt at medium speed until creamy and fluffy. Beat in eggs, one at a time, until well blended. Mix in cream, flour, and vanilla. Pour into pie shell.

Bake in preheated 375 degree oven until knife inserted halfway between center and outside edge comes out clean, 25 to 30 minutes. Cool completely on wire rack. Garnish with whipped cream, if desired.

COME ON YOU GUYS... MOVE OVER!

Lebanon 4-H'ers Receive Scholarships

NORTH CORNWALL (Lebanon Co.) — Three Lebanon County 4-H members were awarded $1,000 scholarships during a recent meeting of the county's 4-H Board of Directors.

Allison Martin, Lebanon, Amy Tshudy, Annville, and Joyce Watson, Newmanstown, were the first 4-H members to receive the newly established scholarship.

Martha Gregory, County 4-H Extension Agent, said funds for the scholarships came from interest derived from a county 4-H trust fund.

Gregory said the scholarship winners were chosen based on their 4-H participation, community involvement and academic achievement. She said they also had to complete an application and an essay question regarding their 4-H experience.

Allison Martin is the daughter of Gene and Kathy Martin, Lebanon. She will be a sophomore biology and secondary education major at Lebanon Valley College.

A member of the NoSoAnn 4-H Dairy Club, Allison owns Holstein dairy cattle that she shows in the type, fitting and showmanship classes as part of her 4-H project. She is currently president of her 4-H club and a member of the county's board of directors.

-In 1993, she was Lebanon Area

Fair queen and was a member of the county Dairy Bowl Team.

A Cedar Crest High School graduate, she was active with Special Olympics, chorus, the pep club and the track and field team in high school and currently tutors Chem 111 at LVC.

She also teaches line dancing at the Lebanon Expo Center. Although this is her final year as a 4-H member, she said she is looking forward to being a 4-H leader in the future.

Amy Tshudy is the daughter of John and Dianne Tshudy, Annville RD 2. She will be a sophomore pre-veterinary science major at Penn State's main campus.

A member of the Hoof & Horns 4-H Horse Club, she is enrolled in both horse performance and production 4-H projects. Currently president of her 4-H Club, she has participated in county, district and state 4-H horse shows.

An Annville-Cleona High School graduate, she helped with its therapeutic riding program and was a member of Students Against Drunk Driving and the high school chorus.

At Penn State, she belongs to the pre-vet club and plays intramural volleyball and soccer.

Amy said she considers herself a shy person and credits 4-H with helping her to become more outgoing and taking an assertive role

Joyce Watson is the daughter of Jeffrey and Laura-Jean Watson, Newmanstown RD 2. She is a senior who has been home schooled since 10th grade and plans to study communications at Indiana Wesleyan University in the fall.

President of the 4-H Busy Bees Community Club, she is enrolled in crafts, clothing and foods and nutrition projects as well as teen leadership.

A member of the county 4-H Board of Directors for three years, Joyce has participated in the State Capital Days and Ambassador programs.

In 1993, Watson was named Outstanding Lebanon County 4-H'er. In 1994, she was chosen as one of the state's Outstanding 4-H'ers and attended the National 4-H Congress in Orlando Fla.

Kutztown Folk Festival

KUTZTOWN (Berks Co.) — From Saturday, July 1, through Sunday, July 9, the annual Kutztown Folk Festival will be held at the same location in Kutztown, Pennsylvania, where it has been held for the past 45 years and everyone in Kutztown is busy preparing for the event. At this summer's 9-day Pennsylvania Dutch celebration, visitors will be transported back to life as it was in 19th century Pennsylvania Dutch Country.

Food has always been an important part of Pennsylvania Dutch life and, at the Kutztown Folk Festival, visitors will find plenty of it. Zion's United Church of Christ's Women's Guild will again present their all-you-can-eat, family-style meal and Saint Michael's Church will serve breakfast, lunch, and dinner, so that visitors may join them any time. For those who want to sample everything, eat-as-you-go foods such as ox-roast and sausage sandwiches, Dutch fries, and funnel cake are plentiful.

From 10 a.m., when the Heidelberg Polka Band will kick things off, visitors will find information and entertainment on the stage. Seminars on the Mennonite People and Life Among the Amish will show visitors the differences between the "Plain and Fancy" Pennsylvania Dutch. The Heidelberg Polka Band, Jakey Budderschnip, and Leroy Heffentrager and his band will provide entertainment. Programs on quilts and quilting, metal and woodworking, farm and home handicrafts, and stitchery will complete the day and allow visitors to rest in the shade.

More than 200 craftsmen, each demonstrating a skill, will take visitors back to a time when all of life's essentials were made by hand. The iron worker, fraktur artist, gunsmith, redware potter, weaver, dyer, soap maker, and candle maker recreate the skills and products that brought beauty and function together in the 19th century.

Quilts are another example of function and beauty combining to create something special and, at the Kutztown Folk Festival, visitors will find 1,000 examples of this exciting combination. All the quilts are for sale, but visitors are welcome just to come and look, as the 35 prize-winners remain on display throughout the Folk Festival's run. Prize-winners receive more than $5,000 in prize money, but most quilters do it for love of the art rather than prize money.

The Kutztown Folk Festival is located in Kutztown, which is halfway between Allentown and Reading, on Route 222 and is open from 9 a.m. until 7 p.m. daily. Proceeds benefit Ursinus College, Collegeville, Pennsylvania.

For more information, call: (610) 683-8707; or write: Kutztown Folk Festival, 461 Vine Lane, Kutztown, PA 19530. The brochure gives lodging information, directions to Kutztown, a map of the Folk Festival Grounds, and schedules of activities and stage programs.

Barbara Strawser demonstrates furniture graining. She is one of 200 persons who will demonstrate 19th Century crafts at the Kutztown Folk Festival on Saturday, July 1-July 9. The nine-day Pennsylvania Dutch celebration will also feature 1,000 hand-quilted, American-made quilts, 20 daily scheduled activities, stage programs, and lots of delicious Pennsylvania Dutch food.

4-H Prepares For Roundup

The Northampton County 4-H clubs are preparing for the 4-H roundup to be held Thursday, Aug. 10 - 13 at the Northampton County 4-H Center on Bushkill Road in Nazareth.

This event marks the culmination of a year of work on any given 4-H project and will be attended by the entire 4-H community.

Roundup is open to the public. There is no admission fee. Good food, lively entertainment, and friendship will be available all during the roundup.

Thursday will kick off roundup with country line dancing from 7 p.m. - 10 p.m. Music and instructor are being provided by "Jane R." Food, games, and craft stands will be open to the general public during the dance.

Friday night will feature a karate demonstration by Valley Martial Arts of Easton. The main attraction is 7th Degree Black Belt Master Ed Hartzell.

The rabbit roundup and goat herd evaluations will also be held at this time. Project dropoff will be held from 1 p.m. to 8 p.m. on Friday. Food will be available all day.

Saturday will begin with the livestock roundup, then on to judging of the exhibits in the Blue Building and finishing off with a celebrity goat milk off and whipped cream pie toss. Group games will also be held Saturday evening for all youngsters (even those who are young at heart). Awards will be given for each winner or winning team.

This is open to all participants and there is no charge or fee. The evening finishes with an old-fashioned cake walk. This year it will start at 9 p.m.

Sunday will start at 8 a.m. with the horse roundup. Six separate 4-H horse clubs will have members participating for a chance to advance to regional and state awards. Classes include showmanship, English and Western flat classes, jumping, driving, and gymkhana.

Sunday will also host the famous Northampton County 4-H Center Chicken Barbecue from noon to 4 p.m.

Call the Northampton County 4-H offices at (610) 746-1970 on weekdays from 8:30 a.m. - 4:30 p.m.

4-H Livestock Club

The Harford County, Maryland 4-H Livestock Club is proud to announce the 1995 recipients of the livestock club scholarships and to recognize these outstanding members for their years of excellent work in the 4-H program.

This year, the livestock club has awarded three scholarships, and the recipients are:

- Courtney Miller. A graduate of Havre de Grace High School and attending Harford Community College, Courtney has been an outstanding member of 4-H for 10 years. She is continuing her career in agronomy at Virginia Tech.

- Mary Lisa Myers. A graduate of C. Milton Wright High School and a sophomore at Delaware Valley College in Doylestown, Mary has been a leading member of the Livestock Club for 11 years. She is pursuing a career in veterinary medicine.

- Lee Wilkinson. A graduate of Fallston High School and attending Harford Community College, Lee has been an outstanding member of 4-H for many years and is a 4-H All Star member. He is enrolled in general studies.

Beef Club

The May Beef Club meeting was held at Troy Gelsinger's house on May 14, during the annual field day.

A picnic lunch was followed by a short business meeting.

Susan Smith did a fitting demonstration. She explained the proper way to get your beef animal ready for the fair.

She explained that you must work with your animal before the fair, training the hair on the animal by rinsing and brushing it.

Goat Club Meets

The Cumberland County 4-H Goat Club met June 7 at the home of Derrick Carpenter. Eight members were present.

Members were reminded of several upcoming events: The Shippensburg Fair starts July 23. The Ag Expo will be held August 9-12 at the Newville Fair Ground. Members were asked to help with the petting zoo on August 9-12.

The next meeting will be held July 8 at 4 p.m. at the home of Red Allen. Demonstrations must be completed by this meeting. Buyer letters will be reviewed. Bring a hot and cold dish and your own place settings.

Those needing additional information should contact one of the leaders: Red Allen at (717) 776-5097 or Ron and Lois Zeigler at (717) 776-7583.

Statewide 4-H Camps -It's More Than You Ever Imagined!

Join youth from around New Jersey this summer at the Beemerville 4-H Camp in Sussex County, New Jersey.

If you are in grades 3-11, you can make friends from all over the state at your "summer home away from home": Beemerville 4-H Camp. You will find programs just perfect for fun, making friends and learning new things. It's more than you can imagine!

If you are in grades 3-7, you can participate in one or more of the following programs:

- Life on the Farm, from July 2-7 and July 9-14. Come meet the cows, horses, lambs, goats, chickens and pigs as you learn about agriculture and its connection to your everyday life.

- Youth on the Move, from July 23-28 and July 30-August 4. Your action-packed options, emphasizing both fun and safety, including all-terrain vehicles, hiking, boating and canoeing, fitness, and horseback riding.

- The Scientist Within You, from August 6-11 and August 13-18. Explore ecology, wildlife, plant science and other natural sciences while you discover the scientist within you.

Each week will emphasize knowledge and skills from the particular theme and include traditional camp activities of recreation, singing, campfires, and group living.

This is a Counselor In Training/Leadership Development program available during each of the weeks mentioned above for youths in grades 8 and 9. These youths will enroll in special leadership classes and have an opportunity to assist trained staff and counselors with activities.

If you are in grades 8-11 and love the adventures of life, you will be able to enroll in Teen Challenge Camp from July 16-21. Your adventure track choices include horsemanship, hiking, canoeing, theater, all terrain vehicles, and shooting sports.

For more information and applications, contact your local Rutgers Cooperative Extension Office, 4-H Department, 4 Gauntt Place, (908) 788-1340/788-1341 or the Rutgers Cooperative Extension, N.J. 4-H Camp Office, 50 Neilson Road Sussex, N.J. 07461 (201) 875-4715.

All camp sessions cost $205 per person with additional fees for horseback riding and other special program options. Bus transportation is available for an additional fee.

Bradford County 4-H Camp

Any youth between the ages of 8 and 18 (as of January 1, 1995) who is interested in the outdoors and such topics as wildlife, trees, pond life and the environment will want to attend this year's Bradford County 4-H Environmental Camp on Wednesday, July 12, from 9:30 a.m. - 3:30 p.m. at the Lakeside Pavilion at Mt. Pisgah State Park.

There is no charge for this camp sponsored by Penn State-Bradford County Cooperative Extension. However, participants will need to bring bag lunches. Beverages will be provided. Registrations are due on July 3 at the Cooperative Extension Office, (717) 265-2896.

There will be fun, hands-on activities on wildlife, forestry, and pond life during the day as well as nature games and a scavenger hunt. Rich Gulyas from the Bradford County Conservation District will lead the wildlife activities. Dr. Robert Hansen and Tom Maloney, both from Bradford County Cooperative Extension, will lead forestry and pond life activities respectively.

Youths do not need to be enrolled in 4-H to attend. Come and have fun and enjoy and learn more about Bradford County's great outdoors. For more information, call Tom Maloney at (717) 265-2896.

4-H'er Top Junior At Rabbit Convention

Rijelle Kraft, Manchester, a member of the York County 4-H Rabbit And Small Animal Club, won top honors in the educational category in competition at the Pennsylvania State Rabbit and Cavy Convention held recently at the Clinton County Fairgrounds.

For her efforts in educational displays, Rijelle was named the outstanding junior member at the state convention.

She had three entries, all of which received a first place blue ribbon. Her entries included her completed 1994 project book, an apron on which she had painted her own design to promote rabbits, and a colorful poster depicting the digestive system of a rabbit. Rijelle also competed in the state rabbit royalty contest and showed her prize-winning Netherland Dwarf and Mini-rex rabbits at the rabbit show.

Also winning honors at the state show were Missy Stough, Glen Rock, who showed the best of breed mini lop rabbit and Lucas Kraft, Manchester, who showed the best of breed Dutch rabbit.

Lycoming County 4-H members (from left): Gini Stopper and Craig Glrven met with Representative Tom Dempsey and Senator Roger Madigan at 4-H Capital Days held recently in Harrisburg. In addition to meeting their legislators, 4-H members visited government departments or agencies and toured the capitol building.

Kids' And Parents' Views Sought On Educational Television

WASHINGTON, D.C. — Surveys have shown that children under the age of 18 spend thousands of hours each year glued to their television sets. Children as young as 2 watch TV more than 23 hours a week, a figure that remains amazingly consistent until they turn 17.

Some experts now say many infants are propped in front of the TV to be dazzled by the sight and sound.

Federal Communications Commission, the government agency that regulates the television industry, is studying ways to ensure that an adequate supply of educational and informational television programming is available to children.

The FCC also is asking that this programming be clearly identified for children, their parents and care givers. Up until June 16 the FCC received comments and suggestions and will consider adopting new rules to improve children's TV programming.

There will be many comments from the broadcasters, from the people who produce the programs, from lawyers and from professional children's advocates. But the Commission would also like to get comments from kids, their parents and care givers.

Because it found that broadcasters were not providing enough educational programming for children, Congress in 1990 enacted the Children's Television Act to ensure such programming was available. The FCC was charged with overseeing this effort.

Based on the results of FCC's 1993 inquiry and a 1994 hearing on the effectiveness of its children's television programming regulation, the FCC proposed to make changes to assure that broadcast station license holders comply with the Children's Television Act and to implement the Act more effectively.

In developing the proposed changes, the Commission has followed three principles: (1) judgments about the quality of programming, educational or otherwise, are best made by audiences, not the federal government; (2) the Commission's rules must be clear, simple and fair; and (3) broadcasters should be guided by market forces . . . in determining whether they meet their programming obligations.

Specific proposals suggest that stations identify programs as educational and informational at the time they are aired and provide such identifying information to publishers of programming guides.

Stations would publicize the availability of their children's programming, perhaps by announcing their existence and time shown over the air.

So — kids and parents — sit down at your kitchen table, at your desk, on the floor, wherever you are comfortable, and let the FCC know what's right about the way educational programs come into your home, if there's enough available, what's wrong with it, and how it should be identified so you'll know when to tune in.

Please send your comments to: Federal Communications Commission Office of the Secretary, 1919 M St., NW, Washington, DC 20554.

Also, so the FCC will know what you're sending comments about, please write "MM Docket 93-48" on the first page.

Readers seeking more information can obtain the 50-page Notice of Proposed Rulemaking via internet by anonymous ftpfrom/pub/orders/massmedia; omm 5068 (either .txt or .wp).

Stress-Free Pollination Critical For Best Yield

GOLDEN VALLEY, Minn. — Pollination is the single most critical time during the corn life cycle, said Tom Miller, Northrup King Co. agronomist in Illinois. During the two weeks before and two weeks following pollination, corn is very sensitive to drought or heat stress. Either of these stresses can cause significant yield losses.

In normal years, Miller said that in Illinois, for example, this yield-determining period occurs during late June or early July. However, he explains that this season's wet, cool weather and subsequently delayed planting will push pollination in many areas into August, traditionally the hottest, driest month of the growing season.

According to Miller, moisture, heat and other environmental stresses during tasseling can result in dramatic yield reductions. For example, although each tassel produces and sheds several million pollen grains, prolonged heat stress can reduce pollen viability. Similarly, severe moisture stress will delay silk emergence. If development is delayed long enough, the silks may miss pollination altogether.

Poor pollination causes reduced kernel set, and in extreme cases, barren ears. To limit pollination risk, the Northrup King agronomist points to the importance of planting hybrids with different maturities. This spreads the pollinating period so that a relatively short period of heat stress will not affect the pollination of the entire crop.

For additional information on corn pollination, growers can contact a local Northrup King agronomist by calling 1-800-AGVISOR.

GEHL

GEHL SKID LOADERS WIN HANDS DOWN

Precise bucket and drive control is easy with Gehl's exclusive Load-Trak T-bar hand controls. Optional hand/foot controls also available.

- Tilt-back cab - Provides easy engine access for servicing.
- Quick-Lock attachment system - For fast attachment changes.
- Eight models - With SAE operating capacities from 750 to 2,050 lbs. to meet your needs.
- A choice of gas or diesel engines - Rated from 20 to 60 horsepower.
- Large selection of attachments - Means versatility.

"Vortex™" Blowers

If you need a high-capacity forage blower to fill your tallest silos, Gehl Vortex blowers will help get your silo-filling done in short order.

- Three models - Your choice of 540 or 1,000 rpm operation.
- Twin spinners - Rifle material into the blower fan at nearly 35 mph.
- Twin-sided fan disc - Paddles on both sides shoot the crop up the pipe in a nearly continuous flow.
- Split rim sheets - Feature a replaceable inner liner for longer life and lower maintenance costs.
- Many convenience features - Swing-away blower outlet, air vents, adjustable left tire, right tire guard, wide hopper, removable tunnel covers and dual water inlets.

Ag Progress Days To Feature Landscapes, Gardens

UNIVERSITY PARK (Centre Co.) — Whether you plan to sell your house in the near future or live there in your golden years, having a beautiful landscape can improve its market value and make it a nicer place to live. You can learn how to improve your home's landscape at Penn State's Ag Progress Days, August 15-17.

The College of Agricultural Sciences Exhibits Building, on West 11th Street, will feature displays of interest to homeowners, landscape contractors and grounds maintenance professionals. Topics will range from computer-assisted landscape design to the selection and care of ornamental plants and turfgrass.

Landscaping your home doesn't have to cost a lot of money all at once, and it can be a good investment. According to a recent study at Clemson University, professionally landscaped homes can fetch a 4 to 5 percent higher price on the market than homes with less landscaping.

"Whether you do it yourself or hire a professional, landscaping can be accomplished in stages over several years," said Dan Stearns, assistant professor of landscape contracting. "This can make the project more feasible and affordable. Our exhibits will show the various stages of the landscaping process."

Those who want to create their own landscape, or better understand how landscape professionals work, can learn the steps of landscaping — taking an inventory of site characteristics; constructing walkways, decks, and other hardscape features; choosing plants and other materials; and adding the finishing touches to a completed landscape.

Also shown will be a computer-aided design (CAD) system, which many landscaping firms now use to develop computerized landscape designs.

"CAD systems allow landscape professionals to develop and alter landscape designs with the click of a button," Stearns said. "They can demonstrate to a homeowner what a newly planted landscape will look like in five years, 10 years, 20 years, or longer. Many firms have found the system to be a useful marketing and educational tool."

"We're featuring landscape improvement from several vantage points, including planting and maintaining ornamentals and caring for turfgrass," said J. Robert Nuss, professor of ornamental horticulture. "Visitors can see how numerous trees, shrubs and flowers can fit into their landscape and can learn how to maintain a high-quality lawn."

Those who are inspired by the landscaping exhibits can visit the Landscape, Lawn and Garden

Tent, next to the College Exhibits Building. "Penn State faculty and cooperative extension agents will be on hand to give advice on indoor and outdoor plants, turf, flowers, tree fruit, small fruit and vegetables," Nuss said.

"People can see examples of annual flowers that have been selected for trial in the All America process at Penn State," Nuss said. "A display will provide information on the All America system of plant improvement and selection."

Penn State's Ag Progress Days

features more than 500 acres of educational and commercial exhibits, tours and machinery demonstrations. It is held at the Russell E. Larson Agricultural Research Center at Rock Springs, nine miles southwest of State College on Route 45. Hours are 9 a.m. to 5 p.m. Tuesday and Thursday, with extended hours of 9 a.m. to 8 p.m. on Wednesday. Admission and parking are free.

For more information, call (800) PSU-1010 toll-free from July 10 to August 17.

Value, Efficiency Mark Tractor

MILWAUKEE, Wis. — Value and fuel-efficiency mark the new Model 1025 from Belarus Machinery, Inc.

With 100 HP, the model 1025 is a stand-out among field tractors in its class.

Equipped with four wheel drive that engages automatically when conditions become difficult, the 1025 features a water-cooled, turbo-charged, diesel engine. An independent 540/1,000 rpm Power Take-Off (PTO) is standard for heavy-duty tillage and harvesting applications.

Designed for operator comfort, the Model 1025 includes hydrostatic steering, tilt, and telescopic steering, and a fully adjustable deluxe seat.

Bou-Matic Introduces Milk Coolers

MADISON, Wis.—Bou-Matic has introduced the Dari-Kool Glacier series milk coolers.

Bou-Matic has re-engineered the Glacier series milk coolers to make them sturdy and reliable.

"We have a cooling system that will outlast and outperform other milk coolers available," John Brzezinski, Dari-Kool product manager, said. "Over the years, experience and technology led us to the design changes that have improved the Dari-Kool line. This is reflected in the new Glacier series."

Bou-Matic has thickened up the evaporator plates, so they can withstand up to 25 times a milk cooler's normal operating pressure. And it has added stronger internal components to support the milk cooler even under the most extreme conditions.

With an improved cooling system, the Glacier series guarantees uniform cooling and maintains the high quality of milk.

Dekalb Genetics Restructures National Sales

DEKALB, Ill. — Dekalb Genetics Corporation has announced plans to reorganize its national sales structure in response to recent sales growth. The hiring of additional employees will help the corporation meet its strategic plan which calls for continued gains in sales volume and market share.

The reorganization focuses on changes within the sales team and the redrawing of various sales regions. Sales districts have remained the same to keep customer relationships intact. National Sales Manager Dennis Schlott said, "All Dekalb products are showing strong gains this year and it is critical to restructure the sales regions to meet growing demand."

"Dekalb's corn sales are up sharply even though planted acreage is down 5 percent nationally, and we are showing strong sales across all product lines. With this increased demand for our product, we are adding a new region and hiring additional staff to meet future growth head on," Schlott said.

"To stay ahead of this growth, we analyzed purchasing trends, farming techniques, product performance, and our sales, marketing and distribution structures. This realignment of our regional boundaries and sales force will ensure our continued success," said Schlott.

Walter And Jackson Purchases Leaner Home Centers

YORK (York Co.) — Walter and Jackson Inc. has recently completed the purchase of Leaner Home Centers of York.

Walter and Jackson has been doing business since 1872 as a full service lumber and building supplies company with approximately 120 employees operating from its headquarters in Christiana. It has evolved from a single location in Christiana selling feed and coal to four locations, handling a full range of building supplies and hardware.

W&J operates lumber yards in Christiana, Quarryville, and Hinkletown in Lancaster County and also Butlers Hardware in Parkersburg in Chester County. It offers a complete line of building materials, concrete, masonry supplies, custom millwork, and hardware.

Leaner Home Centers began as a single unit in 1975 to its present six locations in the suburban York,

United Ag Services History Given

SENECA FALLS, NY — United Ag Services was organized in 1987 by a group of dairy farmers dedicated to the idea that the small dairy cooperative, covering a given geographical area can best serve nearby dairy farmers. They were convinced these independent cooperatives should be kept alive. This conviction was based on a philosophy of "neighbor helping neighbor" to improve their families' quality of life.

Providing all of the functions of the large cooperatives while remaining independent meant that the cooperatives would need to obtain the services they needed at a reasonable cost. Therefore a service organization, United Dairy Cooperative Services, Inc. d/b/a United Ag Services, (United) was established to fill that need. United is administered by a Board of Directors made up of representatives elected to it by each member cooperative.

A basic philosophy of United is that rather than investing in "bricks and mortar" its only capital investments should be in the equipment essential to its operations. United provides marketing, accounting, quality control, banking administration, producer payroll, market administrator reports, legislative representation, and a variety of other services to meet the needs of each of its member cooperatives. Each cooperative is autonomous, controlling its own membership and finances and keeping its own bank account in a hometown bank. More recently United has expanded its role by making its programs available to small and medium sized agricultural organizations and to individual farmers. United is able to provide farm accounting record programs and employee payroll services adapted to the individual's needs.

United has consistently been a leader in providing premiums for its members. Frequently, other dairy farmers have benefited from United's success in this area. United members were also the first to receive protein or solid-not-fat premiums in their marketing areas. It set a precedent in obtaining three times a month payment for its producers in order to improve the farmers' cash flow. United producers also benefit by having direct deposit of their milk checks when they request that service.

Member cooperatives include Addison Milk Producers, Steuben and Allegheny counties, N.Y.; Otselic Valley, Cortland and Chenango counties, N.Y.; Progressive Dairymen's, Bradford and Tioga counties, Pa.; Scenic Mountain Milk Producers, Sullivan and Bradford counties, Pa.; and Syracuse Dairy Farmers, Onondaga County, N.Y.

Officers of United are James Patsos, president/CEO, Waterloo, NY; J.W. Welch, vice president, Mansfield, PA; Robert Nichols, top of the A-frame. They are available with either Category I or II hitches and offer offset capability of up to six inches.

Five-way, easily adjustable rear shield shock absorbers prevent rocks and sticks from being hurled out of the tiller and force the rear shield to create a smooth, level planting surface on the tilled soil. Depth is controlled by adjusting the skid shoes up or down. There are five tilling depths with a maximum of seven inches. ASAE Category 3 driveline with a slip clutch is standard equipment.

Deere Collector Cards Continue Tradition

MOLINE, Ill. — Deere & Company recently announced the release of its 1995 Series II Collector Card program to its dealer network. The baseball-trading-card-size collectibles, printed by The Upper Deck Company, are the second issue in a planned five-year program. They are available through participating dealers in 10-card foil packs or in a complete boxed set of 101 cards.

Historically important and current equipment from the company's agricultural, construction, forestry, and lawn and grounds care equipment product lines, are covered in detail on the UV-coated cards. Others feature historical events, such as the famed John Deere Battalion from World War II, and factory war production in honor of the 50th anniversary of the end of the conflict. A miniseries of five cards, covering the 60th anniversary of the John Deere Model "B," is created for the 1995 edition. A special metallic card focusing on the company's latest 8400 Tractor also is included in every boxed set.

Richard Petty, NASCAR's superstar competitor and a John Deere equipment owner, has agreed to be part of the 1995 series. Petty, who earned every major award in his sport and the Medal of Freedom in 1992, is shown with his equipment at Petty Enterprises, Inc., in North Carolina.

Reggie Jackson, baseball's "Mr. October," also is featured on his own card. Jackson, a Hall-of-Famer known for his 563 home runs and World Series heroics, is pictured on John Deere equipment at his California home.

Both Petty and Jackson have signed 800 of their cards for random insertion into the 10-card foil packs.

Cards depicting classic machinery before 1960 explain the importance of the subject in both the corporate chronology and in the historical context. Cards depicting machines after 1960 usually contain a short description about the subject and selected specifications — such as weight, speed, capacity, and engine information — and production dates.

Every card includes two photographs gathered from the company archives and other sources. The cards are a result of the cooperation between Deere & Company, John Deere marketing units, factories, dealerships, two-cylinder tractor enthusiasts, and Promac, Inc., Elgin, Ill., who developed the series.

Low-Tech Composting

OXFORD, (Chester Co.) — On Wednesday, July 12, at 6:30 p.m., Paul and Carol Hauser will host a twilight meeting on their farm to highlight an innovative composting technique they have been trying.

The technique, called the Passively Aerated Windrow System, or PAWS, features no turning, good odor control, and good nutrient retention. It uses perforated pipes in the piles to help keep the bacteria supplied with oxygen.

The Hausers have a 24-acre diversified fruit and vegetable farm located on Kimble Road, Lincoln University, near Oxford in Chester County. They compost the manure from their 500 chickens, pig, milk cow, and draught horses.

The field day is co-sponsored by Penn State, Rodale Institute and the Pennsylvania Association for Sustainable Agriculture, as part of the RISA Project. For more information or directions, call Cary Oshins at (610) 683-1415 or Paul Hauser at (610) 869-2791.

THE MAKING OF A SCIENTIST

Craig R. Baumrucker
Professor Of Animal Nutrition
And Physiology
Graduate Officer
For Graduate Program
In Animal Science

Scientists aren't born — they're made.

Centuries ago, Francis Bacon's outline of the scientific method gave birth to the modern scientific community. Today Penn State's Graduate Program in Animal Science continues the tradition by producing agricultural scientists. This is how it happens.

Our department offers the doctor of philosophy (Ph.D.) and both the master of agriculture (M.Agr.) and master of science (M.S.) degrees. The M.Agr. is a professional degree; the M.S. is often a stepping stone to the Ph.D. The aim of the Ph.D. degree — a fundamental step in the making of a scientist — is to produce a scholar (one who engages in advanced study and acquired knowledge in a specialized field). The process by which the degree is earned is designed to lead a future scholar to think critically and to learn by conducting research in a specialized field, with the goal of extending the frontiers of knowledge. Although there are additional requirements for completing formal courses, giving oral presentations, passing special exams, and teaching, the focus of the Ph.D. is the search for new knowledge through research activities.

The pursuit of a graduate degree in the United States has evolved from western European university systems that modeled their training after artisan apprenticeships of the Middle Ages. Essentially, an experienced master artist directly taught a number of students who, with time and experience, eventually achieved enough competence to establish their own trade. As you might expect, the best master artisans nurtured and produced the most exceptional students. This relationship is also found in the training of scientists — the individuals, departments, and institutions that employ the nation's top scientists attract the best graduate students and generally produce the most desirable training programs. These associations often lead to the best job placements and greatest scientific achievements. That is why the Penn State strives to be recognized as one of the nation's top institutions for graduate study.

At Penn State, prospective graduate students must first compete for acceptance into a Ph.D. program. Competition is based upon undergraduate grades, Graduate Record Exam (GRE) scores, letters of recommendation, the student's experience, and a statement of interest. Most prospective students are interviewed.

Acceptance into our Graduate Program in Animal Science depends on demonstrating academic excellence and being selected as an advisee by a member of the graduate faculty. Graduate students are chosen by a research adviser within their special area of focus.

Once accepted into the graduate program, the student experiences a number of academic hurdles, including maintaining a minimum B average on all courses. Specific course requirements are established by the student's Ph.D. committee, composed of the adviser and four other members of the graduate faculty. During the first years in the program, the graduate student complete both a Ph.D. candididacy exam and a Ph.D. comprehensive exam, comprised of both written and oral questions and administered by the graduate committee. The candidacy exam is designed to ensure that the student is capable of scholarly thinking and to reveal weak subject areas that may be corrected by additional course work. The comprehensive exam is given after required course work has been completed. It tests the student's knowledge of the scientific literature in his/her area, scientific awareness, and scholarly thinking. This is the final opportunity for the faculty to test for broad comprehension of knowledge. The student's failure on either component of either exam may, at the committee's option, result in either re-examination or removal of the student from the program.

During the first year, while taking courses and preparing for the candidacy exam, the student begins to develop a research proposal. Several investigative paths are available, but these are strictly limited by the adviser's interests, experience, and capacity to conduct the research. In the current academic climate, funds to conduct the research project may be limited. During this time, the student will become intimately involved in the research activities of the advisor, and the direction of the student's research project will become increasingly apparent. Associations with other faculty members also may be beneficial.

After passing the candidacy exam, the student prepares a scholarly research proposal with a stated hypothesis and several objectives that will test the hypothesis. The proposal provides the background information essential to constructing the hypothesis, but the adviser provides the potential for discovery in the student's mind.

After a second year in the program, a student begins to generate scientific data from experiments. This data may be sound enough to present at a scientific meeting, such as the American Society of Animal Science, American Dairy Science Association, Poultry Science Association, or many others. Such presentations are critical components of graduate training, because they provide the opportunity to test and compare the student's science (hypothesis, objectives, results) with that of others. Only through this comparison and criticism from other scientists does the student begin to gain the confidence that produces the scholar. One of the most important factors in the career of a future scientist is the personal contacts with the renowned scientists of the time.

Gradually, through the completion of the third year of the program, the student will begin to grasp the scientific method and its applications. This will have been acquired through the process of pursuing research, comparing ideas with others at meetings, and reading scientific literature, among other activities. The accumulation of these efforts is compiled into a document called the Ph.D. dissertation. Upon completing the dissertation, the student presents a public seminar on the chosen topic. A private, final session with the Ph.D. committee follows, in which the student defends the science in the dissertation. Failing the defense is an unfortunate possibility. Successfully defending the thesis and submitting the corrected final dissertation to the graduate school for binding and microfilm copying brings the student nearly to completion of the Ph.D. degree requirements.

The final requirement is the need to communicate the information. The definition of a scholar, "one in the pursuit or acquisition of knowledge," confirms this facet of the Ph.D. program, for what is the purpose of individual knowledge if it is not available to others? Generally, this communication has taken the form of one or more manuscripts published in a peer-reviewed, scientific journal.

Where does animal science fit into this picture? How are Ph.D. students in the graduate program in animal science unique relative to others? They differ only in the hypotheses proposed and objectives pursued. Generally, Ph.D. candidates in this area develop hypothesis that directly relate to agricultural applications. Trained as scholars and come out as newly graduated students, some take postdoctoral positions in medical schools or biological science departments. Others may take positions in industry or academic institutions. Does that mean we have trained agriculture students for biological study? You bet!

Animal science is the study and application of the biology of domestic animal species. Lessons learned in the study of other species often can be applied to domestic animal species. Most students trained in agricultural disciplines return to their original field after completing their postdoctoral assignments.

Francis Bacon once said, "Experiments have one admirable property and condition, they never miss or fail since they are applied, not for the purpose of producing any particular effect, but only of discovering the natural cause of some effect. They answer the end equally well whichever way they turn out, for they settle the question."

Lancaster Farming, Saturday, July 1, 1995-C7

Our responsibilities as scientists are to ask worthwhile questions. The making of a scientist at Penn State continues this heritage of scholarly pursuit.

THINK CONCRETE WHEN PLANNING YOUR FEED STORAGE!!

The major costs on dairy and livestock farms are related to FEED: production...harvesting...storage...purchases...delivery to animals. Significant savings in time and money are possible when you store and deliver your feed from a poured concrete silo.

"As margins narrow, dairymen need to invest in efficiency: This can have as great an influence on Profit as milk price changes."

Protect your valuable feeds from rain, sleet, snow, mud, ice, wind and the sun's heat. Reduce the stress. INCREASE THE EFFICIENCY OF YOUR FEEDS, LABOR, AND LIVESTOCK!

At Sollenberger Silos Corp. we know a lot about feed storage and handling; we've been in the business since 1908. If your plans call for new feed storage, give us a call...We'd like to contribute to your success!!

"This is the kind of silo you need to protect your valuable feed."

MEMBER: International Silo Association/PA Forage and Grassland Council/AM. Society of Agricultural Engineers/Crop Storage Institute.

Scroll-Compressor Technology

New in 1994

*You may pay less for some dairy farm equipment...
but it can cost you more!*

Equipment cost is not the only cost of cooling milk.

In the long run, total operating costs of a Mueller milk-cooling system are generally substantially less than those of "bargain-brand" milk-cooling equipment.

|-------------------------------------------------------------------|----------|-------------|
| Cost of equipment                                                 | $51,000 | $28,000    |
| Cost of electricity @ .08 kW for 12,000 lbs milk/day for 10 years | $17,550 | $22,850    |
| Total operating cost for ten years                                | $48,550 | $50,850    |

Increase Cattle Gains!

TOX-O-WIK® Cattle Oiler and Face Fly Fighter

It keeps cattle comfortable year around and free of weight-robbing insects and disease. It's automatic, trouble-free and rugged. Plus it pays for itself in profits from increased weight gain.

Our special TOX-O-WIK Insecticide is compatible with the animals natural body oils, skin and hair and keeps them free of flies, lice, grubs, ticks, mange and pinkeye.

- Insecticide tank wick feeds automatically, no valves, jets or pumps to clog
- Mineral feeder
- 1 to 4 applicators per unit
- TOX-O-WIK Insecticide is the only insecticide recommended for TOX-O-WIK Cattle Oilers
- Dairy units also available

REPLACING HOG FLOORING? CONSIDERING NEW CONSTRUCTION?

✓ CHECK OUT Polygrate™

Heavy Duty Hog Flooring

Time Tested and Proven This style of POLYGRATE was first introduced in 1981. Over the years Farcox has continued to refine this product. POLYGRATE is one of only a few "World Class" floors that has stood this test of time.

Outstanding Traction

POLYGRATE'S unique "high-low" finger design provides outstanding traction for pigs of all sizes, while enhancing safety and comfort. ♦ POLYGRATE'S rounded corners minimize injuries. The edges are beveled providing a smoother, safer surface that promotes comfort, too.

What Does This All Add Up To?

- ♦ More piglets survive until weaning
- ♦ Less splay/spraddle leg problems
- ♦ Heavier piglets at weaning
- ♦ Better conditioned sows at weaning

Agriculture Moves on EBY Bodies

M.H. Eby custom-builds aluminum truck bodies for the agri-transportation market. Nobody offers more sizes and options in:

- LIVESTOCK BODIES - Lengths to 32', choice of heights and widths.
- GRAIN BODIES - Lengths to 24'; landscape and general purpose dumps to 12'.
- FLATBED BODIES - Lengths to 32', choice of 5 widths.

For greater payload capacity, Eby's aluminum design is equal in strength to steel and up to 40% lighter. Our corrosion-resistant components never need painting. That means minimum maintenance, improved appearance and higher resale value.

Eby products have superior standard features. And we offer custom options for virtually any application. Agriculture is your business- building bodies to haul it is ours.

Feed your cows with Pequea's portable bunk feeders and round bale movers

Models 510S, 515E, 520, 520H, 525 & 530T Bunk Feeders

Model 520H Specifications

- 22 Head Gates
- Self Locking
- 20 Feet Long, 7 Feet 3 Inches Wide
- Heavy Duty Welded Construction
- 15 x 8 x 6 Wheels
- 11 Ga. Bottom Sheet Steel
- Weight 2400 lb.

Model 520 Specifications

- 38 Feeding Openings
- 20 Feet Long, 7 Feet 3 Inches Wide
- Side De-Mountable for Large Round Bales
- Heavy Welded Rectangular Tube Construction
- 15 x 8 x 6 Wheels
- 11 Ga. Bottom Sheet Steel
- Weight with sides 2316 lb.

Here's a better way to feed your herd! With the Pequea portable bunk feeder, you'll save time — save money. Load it up with silage, haylage, round or square bales or any mixture of grain and forage. Tow it into the field, and feed up to 52 head of cattle at once.

With Pequea's efficient slant-bar system cows can't push each other away from feeding spaces, so you have less feed loss from spills. Convenient low tank height accommodates any size cow.

You can save wear and tear on your pasture and they eliminate heavily trampled spots. Just move it to a new location each day.

The New 520H cattle head gate bunk feeder (below) is the modern answer for holding cattle during breeding, veterinarian, or testing purposes.

BEEF CATTLE IDENTIFICATION

Proper identification is essential for keeping records which are necessary to operate a beef enterprise efficiently. Records are needed to determine animal performance, maintain health programs, and to schedule management activities. They are particularly important in providing genetic information for selection, breeding, and culling.

In the feedlot, identification helps the owner to recognize the sources of feeders, keep accurate performance and economic data, and maintain health programs.

Methods Of Identification

• Tattoo — Tattooing is a permanent method of identification that is required for registered cattle. The readability of a tattoo depends more on the skill of the producer doing the job than any other factor. Before tattooing, both the ear and the instrument should be cleaned thoroughly. The tattooing is performed with a special instrument that places characters, letters, or numerals under the skin by a series of needlelike points. The tattoo should be between the ribs of the ear, and tattoo ink should be rubbed in well with the finger. The major disadvantage of tattooing is that the animal must be completely restrained before identification can be made.

• Ear Tags — Many kinds of ear tags are used extensively in beef cattle identification. Ear tags vary in the material from which they are made, size, and method of attachment. They will provide identification for a longer period if they are properly installed. Otherwise, ear tags are only semipermanent, and are best suited for calves and feedlot operations if they are improperly placed in the ear.

Types of ear tags:

a. Metal — metal ear tags are generally either round or rectangular. They may cause infection and often are more difficult to read than other types of ear tags. The loss rate is generally high after a period of a year.

b. Plastic — infection is less of a problem than with metal tags and they are usually easier to read.

c. Rubber — Soft rubber tags appear to be the best suited for beef cattle identification. Because of their flexibility, less replacement is required and larger tags may be used. They are the most popular form of identification because they come in a variety of sizes, can be printed with many types of information, are cheap to use, and can easily be replaced if they are lost. Rubber tags are correctly placed in the center of the ear by piercing the ear between the ribs of cartilage. If they are placed too close to the head, they can be very hard to read; if they are placed too far out on the ear, they are lost more easily. Replacement can usually be made in the same hole in the ear from the previous tag site. Because many cattle are both tattooed and ear tagged, care must be taken to place the tag in the opposite ear from the tattoo.

• Freeze Branding — Freeze

branding is a relatively new method of identifying cattle. Freezing the hide with a super-cooled branding iron destroys the color-producing cells and results in a permanent growth of white hair in the shape of the iron used. Freeze branding is recommended for dark colored animals only.

Equipment needed:

a. A chute or some device to tightly restrain the animal.

b. Hair clippers with extra thin blades.

c. Copper or copper alloy branding irons. The irons should be at least four inches high and the

Tioga County Fair

Agriculture is still the number one industry in Tioga County, and there's no better place to see it all than at the 1995 Tioga County Fair, being held at the fairgrounds in Whitneyville from Monday, August 7 through Saturday, August 12.

The official opening of the fair is Monday at 5 p.m. and there will be the usual hubbub and excitement as the exhibitors bring in their exhibits.

Monday night offers great things! Besides seeing all the exhibits as they come in, you will get a chance to relax as you watch some hometown talent perform on the midway stage in the carnival area. During the intermission, the 1995 Tioga County Fair Queen will be crowned by reigning queen, Laurie Wildman. The evening will be rounded out by the Horse Pull on the track at 7 p.m.

Tuesday gets started early, with the judging of all the baked and canned goods as well as vegetables, hay and grain, and floral exhibits. All of these things should be brought to the fairgrounds on Monday between the hours of 10 a.m. and 8 p.m. in order to be considered for competition. Absolutely no items will be accepted after 8 p.m.

Because of the volume of entries, all needlecrafts, handcrafts and photographs are to be entered on Saturday, August 5 between 10 a.m. and 4 p.m. Judging of these departments will be held Sunday, August 6.

A special judging event is planned for Tuesday. The Hershey's Greatest Cocoa contests and the Blue Ribbon Apple Pie contest will be held at 5 p.m. with celebrity judges. The entrants and the public are encouraged to gather in the center of the fairgrounds to watch as the judges "eat their way through a mountain of baked goods." Make sure you encourage all the exceptional bakers you know to enter these contests!

There will be lots to do as you watch the animals being readied for show. Don't forget to view the antique tractor and machinery display or check out what is "new" in the Farming and Mining Museum. But you definitely won't want to leave the fairgrounds without attending the Baked Goods Auction! The Tioga County Fair has one of the largest baked goods displays around and this is the only place where you can purchase first prize baked goods.

Wednesday is the first of many days throughout the week with a dairy or livestock show. The 4-H and Vocational Dairy Show will start at 9 a.m. Family Day, being sponsored by Grecos Super Duper, will continue as the kids try their hands (feet?) in the Pedal Tractor pull or participate in the games and contests. Take time to watch one of the racing and diving pigs shows and the Poco clowns.

If you attend the fair on Wednesday, you will be in for some real "treats." You will have the opportunity to sample some of the finest products grown and made in this county - all under one roof! Make sure you come to the fair on Ag Promotion Day.

The fun continues Wednesday night with a new kind of entertainment. Because of all the interest in last year's rodeo, this year's fair board is pleased to announce the appearance of The Crown H All Bull Riding Show at 8 p.m. You won't want to miss any of the excitement as you watch the high jumping, hard hitting, fast spinning power of the rodeo bulls and the guts and determination of the bull rider as he tries to make that 8-second ride!

On Thursday, there is an early morning showing of the county's best beef animals. It's a lot of fun to watch these kids do their best to lead these huge animals around the ring.

Lots of fun can be had in the afternoon if you stay around to watch the sheep blocking contest. These lambs are brought straight from the field to be made show-ready in an hour. In the Youth Center Building, there will be an all-day sheep and wool show. Demonstrations will include sheep shearing, spinning, and felting.

The shorn wool will be spun and woven into a shawl which will be auctioned off later in the week during the Jr. Livestock Sale and Milk Auction.

Friday brings us close to the end of fair week, but each day is just as exciting as the last, as we have more animal judging. The swine show starts at 9 a.m. and if you have never watched swine judging, you will want to see this! The Open Colored Breed Dairy Show begins at 11 a.m. with some of the finest cattle in the state being shown.

The Draft Horse Show will be held on Friday at 10 a.m. This is a unique show all its own. Seeing some of these huge horses put ## Limousin Show.

ENGLEWOOD, Colo.—Entries are in and the 1995 National Junior Limousin Show and Congress in Wichita, Kansas, July 9-16 has all the makings to become one of the largest Limousin junior gatherings ever held in the United States.

All told, show entries have been recorded for 349 females, 64 steers, and 17 bulls. Those numbers could make the show the second largest National Junior Show ever held, surpassed only by the 1992 National Junior Show.

"With the current challenges in the cattle market, it is exciting to see this many young people showing enthusiasm for Limousin and the cattle industry," said George Hubbard, North American Limousin Foundation (NALF) director of marketing, shows and junior activities.

The 234 exhibitors will bring together 29 states for competition in shows and satellite events, including public speaking, extemporaneous speaking, sales talk and judging contests. States will also compete in the Limousin Beef Cook-Off and herdsman'ship and booth contests.

For more information, contact NALF at (303) 220-1693.

through their paces is a sight to see!

The tractor pull rounds out a day of agricultural activities at 7 p.m. Two classes for "out of the field" tractors have been added. This pull also includes a group of modifieds from New York state.

Saturday brings several more shows to the fair. The 4-H Horse Show, starting at 9 a.m. is the culmination of a year of hard work by a special group of kids. Judging is based on grooming and showmanship as well as numerous classes. The Holstein Dairy Show also starts at 9 a.m.

Something new to this year's Tioga County Fair is the Farm Toy Show, beginning at 10 a.m. Saturday and continuing until 5 p.m. Collectors from all over this region will have their old and new farm equipment toys on display, with some of the toys possibly for sale or swap.

Horseshoe pitching and the Jr. Livestock Sale and Milk Auction fill in the middle of the day. The prize winning market animals will be auctioned off as well as baskets of dairy products and a gallon of milk from the Youth Show grand champion of each breed.

Luzerne County Fair

The Luzerne County Fair will start on Wednesday, Sept. 6 and end on Sunday, Sept. 10. Entertainment again will be provided as part of the entrance to the fairgrounds.

On Wednesday night the opening act will be Dee Dee Lee and Country Class. The group consists of Dee Dee's husband and their six children, John E., David, Tammy, Melody, Carl, and Adam. The group is a mixture of music in the traditional form, plus today's country favorites and some good old time gospel music. The group will start at 8 p.m.

On Thursday evening will be Daddy-O and The Sax Maniacs. The group has played for President Clinton and his wife Hilary at the White House and for the Inauguration. They recently played at the White House for the wedding of Hugh Rodman to the daughter of California Senator Barbara Boxx. They will begin playing at 8 p.m. until 11 p.m. Daddy-O has also played many local jazz clubs in the area.

Friday night Ron Edwards Trio will be in the bandstand playing from 8 p.m. until closing. Edwards and the group are all from Luzerne County. The group plays a mixture of music from the '50s on up to the '90s. They have performed at local clubs throughout northeastern Pennsylvania.

On Saturday night, North Country will be the highlight of the evening. North Country is a well-known local group who recently opened for country singing star Lee Roy Parnell at Gennetti's in Wilkes Barre. They have also been playing in the area for some time. They are sponsored by Delta Tires. The group plays old and new country music.

Sunday night the fair will close with the ever popular Stanky and The Coal Miners. The band is well known throughout the area. They have been the opening act for performers such as Yakov Smirnoff and Bobby Vinton. They have played on several cruise ships for the Holland America's line. The entertainers have many followers in the Northeast.

Performing throughout the week will be The Banjo Man. The Banjo Man will provide Blue Grass Music and will stroll through the fair all week, playing his banjo and singing his songs.

Back by popular demand will be the petting zoo for the young and old. The zoo will have a variety of animals, including llamas, giraffes, and a collection of other animals.

A new addition to the fair will be a chilli contest held by the arts and crafts division of the fair. Ayleen Landon and Jim Rogowski, Arts and Crafts, will be handling the chilli contest. Rules and regulations will be announced at a future date. The Arts and Crafts Department will also hold an apple pie contest, scarecrow contest, and chocolate baking contest.

The fair will be held at the fairgrounds, located on Route 118 in Lehman-Dallas Twp. For more information, call (717) 675-FAIR.

Producers Can Participate In Soybean Promotion, Research Poll

YORK (York Co.)—York County soybean growers have an opportunity in the near future to voice their opinions on soybean assessment refunds.

The Soybean Promotion and Research Order was implemented on July 9, 1991 to outline how the program would be carried out. The producer poll, which is mandated by the Act, is a poll conducted among soybean producers to determine whether they favor conducting a referendum on the continuance of payment of refunds under the Order. Soybean producers may request a refund of the one-half of 1 percent assessment on the net market price of soybeans sold.

Only producers who favor requesting a refund referendum to determine whether refunds should continue will sign the request, LS-51 or LS-53. If the poll shows that at least 20 percent (not in excess of one-fifth of which may be producers in any one state) of all eligible producers favor a refund referendum, the referendum will be held within 1 year. Refunds will continue until a referendum is conducted.

If results of the producer poll indicate that a referendum is not supported, refunds will be discontinued and a refund referendum will not be conducted.

The producer poll will be held for one day on July 26, 1995 during regular business hours at the York County CFSA Office, 120 Pleasant Acres Rd., York, PA, (717) 755-2801. Registration and polling will take place on the same day, except for absentee registration and polling.

Absentee registration and polling forms may be requested by mail or in person during the period June 19 through July 14, 1995 from the County CFSA Office where you reside; however it must be received in the County CFSA Office no later than Close of Business on July 14, 1995. If the absentee registration is not returned to the CFSA Office timely, you may still participate in person on July 26, 1995.

Eligibility requirements for voting: Any person, who during the period September 1, 1991, through June 1, 1995, has been engaged in the growing of soybeans in the United States and who owns or shares the ownership and risk of loss of such soybeans. Partnerships are considered only one vote and any authorized representative may register and request a refund referendum on behalf of that entity. Any individual member of a group who is an eligible producer separate from the group may register and make a request as a producer.

I & J CornBinder

The nine gallons per minute hydrosystem runs the corn head as well as the loader.

Also, hitch swing and head rises and lowers hydraulically. The tandem axle is on the loader side. And, the aluminum loader runs with belt (no chains).

Nobody Does Hay Better

The revolutionary MoCo's are here

- Six models, all with an innovative, three-point suspension system for unmatched flotation.
- Three sicklebar models: Narrow-profile guards, easy adjustments, exclusive urethane-roll conditioning, and a cut that's six inches wider than other makes.
- Three rotary models: John Deere-built modular cutterbar is the strongest, easiest-to-service cutter-bar. A choice of conditioning methods at all widths.
- Get excellent maneuverability plus driveline protection from the new tongue design.

Cub Cadet

INTRODUCES THE CUB CADET UTILITY VEHICLE.

The "GRIZZLY"
YOUR MOST VERSATILE OUTDOOR POWER TOOL.

A true farm hand making farm chores "fun".

The Cub Cadet Utility vehicle is built tough, with the quality that is the driving force behind everything Cub Cadet makes. This mighty little performer features the biggest engine in its class: a 4-cycle, 16 HP Vanguard, giving the Cub Cadet Grizzly a load capacity of 1,000 lb. It has an automatic torque converter that works to give you the best gear ratio for the power and speed you need to handle almost any task.

Every Axial Flow
Combine Reconditioned
by Hooper Combine Specialists!

Don Carper
Says,

"When a salesman trades an Axial Flow Combine, he has my men prepare a detailed report of everything needed to repair the machine so it is ready to work with no or minimal downtime during the year's grain and corn/bean season. My men and I want the combine fixed right! We're the one's who stand behind it when a farmer buys it."

Your Recipe for Success...

AcuBlend TMR Mixers

Get the balanced feed base that works best for your herd with an AcuBlend mixer from Alfa Laval Agri. Designed to save both time and money, AcuBlend mixers can help improve the efficiency and profitability of your operation.

These quality mixers are built farm-tough, and are part of our HDI line of heavy-duty equipment. The body is welded for solid performance, and the augers are driven by a heavy-duty drive system developed to give you years of low-maintenance operation.

AcuBlend TMR mixers are a perfect complement to individualized concentrate feeding. They can be custom-built from a range of options to meet your individual needs.

Choose the total feeding system that will meet your needs for today and the future. See your local independent Alfa Laval Agri dealer today!

FLUFF 3 WINDROWS IN ONE PASS

You'll cover acres fast, and bale or chop sooner with the Model 169 tedder. It uses six rotors to ted a wide 22'8" area. That's wide enough to fluff three windrows from a 9' mower-conditioner. Yet transport width is a narrow 9'8" for easy maneuvering. The frame of the "169" is fully articulated, so it hugs the ground to fluff all of your crop for fast drying.

Beat the weather with the Model 169. Stop by for details.

CUT HAY THE DISC WAY!

- High speed discs - Each disc has two knives to slice through the toughest crops and conditions; the disc gear drive operates in an oil bath for long life.
- Sturdy frame - Cradles the cutterbar for extra protection and durability.
- 540 or 1,000 rpm driveline with equal-angle hitch for smooth power transfer.
- Standard hydraulic tongue - Makes it easy to position the unit without leaving the tractor seat.

Look To Massey-Ferguson First.

The quality and features you need. If your crop and harvesting conditions were always ideal, you might be able to get by with a lesser combine. But in the real world of down, tangled crops, rocks, weeds, wet weather, soft ground and early winters you need M-F 8450 and MF 8460 combine performance and reliability. For example, an efficient conventional cylinder is teamed with a Positive Separation Process for greater harvesting capacity. The center-mounted cab provides excellent visibility while it floats on rubber dampers to reduce noise and vibrations. And Mercedes Benz diesel engines are respected world wide for their reliability, torque reserve and fuel economy. But most of all, owners like the overall quality and reliability that make harvesting quick and profitable.

NEW MF 6100 & 8100 Series Tractors

STEVENS FEED MILL

For more than 30 years, Stevens Feed Mill, nestled in the small town of Stevens in eastern Lancaster County, has been serving farmers with feed products for their farm herds and flocks.

In 1965 William Goods' grandfather, along with several other men, purchased the old flour mill that has a date stone of 1907. As the years went by, several different family members have owned the business, but today Willard, his wife Flo, and his parents Arlene and Jake Good are the principal owners. Grand children Austin, 5; and Emily 2; complete the family circle.

Many of the 13 employees have been with the company for many years, too. In fact, most of the employees have from 18 to 28 years of service to the farm community through their work at Stevens Feed Mill.

As a Purina dealer, the products Stevens Feed Mill has to offer customers has grown considerably. The growing demand for concentrates and base feeds to mix with farm grown grains has given Stevens the opportunity to use their capacity in the mill to provide custom formulated dairy rations using Purina's high performance concentrates. Of course, they supply concentrated ingredients for on-farm mixing too. They have a nutritionist who formulates all their finished feeds.

In addition, the Goods see specialized farms and more urban customers in the future. Purina products are especially designed to fit this growing customer base at Stevens Feed Mill. Pet foods, horse feeds, and feed for other small animals and birds are part of this new growing market.

Service and quality are considered the most important ingredients in the Stevens Feed Mill business. "We give the best service we can," Arlene said. "It isn't always easy, but if a farmer needs it, we try to even give same-day service if it is necessary. This time of year the farmers are in the fields, and they often forget to check the feed bins until the last minute."

"We generally play our promotional efforts low key," Arlene continued. "But we are pleased that most of our employees have been here for a long time. If you are out on the farm and have a different driver or a different service representative all the time, the farmer doesn't feel comfortable."

As for the future of agriculture, Willard believes it will go the way the markets go. But whatever the direction Stevens Feed Mill plans to be there to serve their present and future customers.

"We try to stay current with customers' needs and give the best service with quality with quality products," Willard said. "This up-to-date service, along with our employees that have been with us for a long time, will help us continue to provide the service our customers need."

Arlene Good and son Willard Good along with their families are principal owners of Stevens Feed Mill
